Paltz Getting $10,700,000 for Expansion Greater Defense Spending Coming: Ike

Says Some Programs Must End Urges Stepped-Up Science Training For Missile Age

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — President Eisenhower last night warned the cost of space age weapons means a "very considerable" boost in defense spending is coming and that Congress will have to face the tough task of cutting non-essential national programs.

He said Americans won't tolerate sacrificing security to the worship of a balanced budget.

This impending boost will mean sharp cuts in some non-military spending programs in next year's budget to offset a part of the hike, he said.

Foresees 'Wailing'

Some of these programs may have to be eliminated entirely, the President declared. He departed from his prepared text to add: "And pressure groups will wail in anguish."

In a nationwide television-radio address, the President also called for a stepped-up educational program of training scientists to meet the Russian threat. He suggested the program include such incentives as fellowship grants to provide more science teachers. But he did not go into detail on his suggestion.

Eisenhower also called for greater concentration on basic research, saying "the warning lies in the fast rate of increase of the Soviet effort" in that field of science.

Making the second of a series of "chins up" talks designed to bolster United States confidence in free world defense capabilities, Eisenhower said Russia's challenge is being met and will continue to be met.

Cautions on Danger
He cautioned that the Soviet Union's recent achievements in development of weapons of the future mean "there is danger ahead for free men everywhere."

The President, addressing an overflow audience in the 6,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, recalled that Nazi dictator Hitler once boasted he would bury the free world.

"Not enough people took him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

"We shall not make that mistake again," he declared.

Eisenhower's assertion that defense spending on missiles and other weapons of the future must be hiked by "a very considerable figure" quite likely killed any remaining hope for a tax cut next year.

After outlining some individual and specific defense costs, the President said:

"There has been much discussion lately about whether Soviet

U.S. Cool Toward Standby Law on Control Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration gave a cool reception today to a proposal that Congress quickly enact a standby law providing wage, price, credit and rationing controls.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) suggested the action yesterday at a two-day conference of 1,200 businessmen-members of the national defense executive reserve.

Government officials attending the sessions indicated clearly, however, the administration would neither recommend nor request the standby power.

Not Seeking Controls

"Unquestionably the administration would accept standby authority if Congress voted it," one high mobilization official said, adding: "But we won't ask for it. This administration is committed to a policy of avoiding direct economic controls if possible."

He and others who commented along the same line declined to be quoted by name.

The reservists are business executives who have served in Washington and stand ready to return in event of mobilization.

Capehart told them that the perils now facing the country make it advisable to set up the

Emergency Water Plan Is Likely Next Month

Rains sufficient to bring Cooper Lake up five feet would keep the city in its own water business through the winter with careful conservation, but without such rain the city will be buying New York City water next month, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent said today.

Use of Ashokan Reservoir water will also mean continued restrictions on local use of water because it has now been determined that the city, because of

Girl Patient, 8, Santa Claus Will Open Seals Drive

A girl of 8 years, who is under treatment at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, will meet Santa Claus on the Court House lawn, Wall Street, Friday at 7:30 p. m. The first sheet of the Christmas Seals will be purchased by Santa to open the 1957 Christmas Seals Sale in the county.

On hand to meet Santa with Christmas music will be a choir of Girl Scouts from Kingston, under the direction of Miss Delores Yoggi.

Robert S. Russell, Ulster County chairman, in announcing plans for the opening of the Christmas Seals Sale, described the twin Seals, as featuring Santa Claus and a little girl reflected in bright Christmas tree ornaments.

"Everyone in Ulster County can become a Christmas Seals Santa Claus by buying and using these little Seals that help fight tuberculosis," Chairman Russell said. "If we all play our part in this fight, the Christmas Seals child and all our children will be protected from this terrible disease which now strikes 100,000 Americans a year."

In recently released statistics on tuberculosis, it was revealed Ulster County's rate of incidence

Wide Area Shaken as Two Jets Break Sound Barrier

Explosions produced as two jet fighters from Suffolk County Airport, Long Island, broke the sound barrier left half a dozen communities from mid-Sullivan to the New Jersey line "all shook up" early last night.

In some places windows were reportedly broken by the force of the concussions. Reports of explosions came from widespread areas.

The two jet aircraft, which broke the sound barrier, were part of a group of nine F-102s engaged in a routine training flight.

The situation was compounded in the Ellenville area by a fire of undetermined origin which destroyed the two-story, 25-room Glatman's Maple Grove House on the Nevele road about a mile from the village.

A rumor swiftly spread in the area that the explosion was connected with the fire. Flames shot high into the air, attracting throngs of spectators from a wide area.

The New York Telephone Company switchboards in the Ellenville area were reportedly swamped with calls from residents seeking information regarding the explosion.

Effects of the explosion were reportedly felt over a radius of 60 to 75 miles. Curiously, however, the area directly beneath the jet—mid-Rockland county—escaped the impact of the detonation.

It was reported from Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, that the explosion occurred as one of its planes, engaged in a routine training exercise, broke the

Local Driver Dies In Thruway Crash

Kenneth Boss Crushed to Death Near Newburgh in Tractor-Trailers Mishap

A Kingston man was crushed to death shortly before midnight when the tractor-trailer he was driving smashed into the rear of another tractor-trailer on the Thruway about six miles north of Newburgh.

Kenneth G. Boss, 47, of 314 Hasbrouck Avenue, a driver for Needes Express, Inc., died instantly in the collision.

Other Driver Unhurt
Trooper W. F. Ryan of the Newburgh Thruway Police told The Freeman that Boss was "badly crushed" when the vehicle he was driving smashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer owned by McAndrew Produce Co. of Scranton, Pa.

Driver of the McAndrew vehicle, Andrew Marich, 24, of Pittston, Pa., reportedly claimed no injuries.

Both vehicles were proceeding south at the time of the collision—11:54 p. m.

Marich was arrested by Ryan on a charge of driving on a flat tire, violation of Thruway regulations. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace C. P. Miller of the town of Newburgh and paid a fine of $5.

It was reported that Marich had developed a flat tire and was driving slowly in an attempt to reach a service station when he was rammed.

Trooper Ryan said the load of general freight carried by the Needes trailer "came forward," adding to the crushing effect of the collision.

Verdict Withheld
Included in the Needes freight were heavy bales of wrapping paper, it was reported.

The McAndrew trailer was loaded with potatoes.

Coroner Harvey Agnew is withholding verdict pending completion of the investigation. Coroner Francis J. McCordie

Estate Is $4,930,382

Watson Remembers Causes in Will

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas J. Watson, former chairman of the board of International Business Machines, left a gross estate of $4,930,382, according to an accounting filed in surrogate's court.

Watson died June 19, 1956.

Bequests of $200,000 each were paid to the Brick Presbyterian Church here, the National Council of Boy Scouts of America, the Salvation Army and Roosevelt Hospital here.

Legacies of $5,000 each went to 33 of his employees, and a number of other employees received lesser sums.

The largest asset of the estate was a block of 7,899 shares of International Business Machines capital stock, which was appraised at $3,605,893.

The will stated that Watson and his wife, Jeanette, had set up an irrevocable trust involving four funds. It directed that the residuary estate be divided into eight parts—four going to the trust and the remaining four to Watson's trustee. He named his wife as the trustee and as an executor of his estate.

Mrs. Watson also received a legacy of personal property appraised at $51,483. The income from the trust is to be used for charitable, scientific, religious, literary or educational purposes.

Commissioner Improving

Thomas Bohan, River road, Port Ewen, Ulster County Civil Service Commissioner, is reported to be "recuperating nicely" at the Benedictine Hospital where he was taken last Thursday with pneumonia. Mrs. Bohan said today that the illness began with a case of bronchitis. He will probably remain in the hospital for the remainder of the week.

Would End Controversy

Ellsworth Withdraws Appeal Over Records

Arnold L. Ellsworth, who sought to have himself declared supervisor of the town of Esopus in 1956 after Supervisor Edward R. Eckert (R) had submitted his resignation, has consented to withdrawal of an appeal which has been pending before the Appellate Division.

Eckert submitted his resignation as supervisor and Ellsworth was named as successor by the town board. Later Eckert withdrew his resignation and Ellsworth brought court action to compel Eckert to deliver to him books, records and papers belonging to the office. That motion was heard before Justice William Deckleman who held his court was without jurisdiction and made an order denying the application.

Consents to Dismissal

Ellsworth appealed from that decision to the Appellate Division and recently counsel for the respondent, Edward R. Eckert, moved before the Appellate court for dismissal of the appeal on the grounds of lack of prosecution.

Ellsworth has filed an answering affidavit in that proceeding in which he consents to a dismissal of the appeal. That affidavit states in part:

"That in the months following the filing of the notice of appeal, appellant, a disabled war veteran, was not in a financial position to bear the expenses of the appeal. That at the present time appellant feels that the public interest will be best served by discontinuance of the controversy which has created so much unrest within the township, especially in view of the fact that on January 1, 1958, a third person unconnected with this controversy will assume the supervision of the town of Esopus. It is felt by the appellant that the newly elected supervisor and his fellow board members should not be harassed by litigation which has now become largely academic."

Urges Attendance

Thomas E. Hanigan, director of the FHA office, Albany, urged that financial institutions, real estate boards, home builders associations, lumber dealers organizations and allied industries be represented at tonight's dinner meeting.

He said representatives of the Albany FHA office will discuss the program. Other speakers will include Allen MacDuffie, executive secretary of the Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program, New York City.

For Rural Areas

Hanigan explained the program will operate in the rural areas of the Albany FHA office

Khrushchev Says Ike, Dulles Would Be Welcomed in Soviet as 'Dear Friends'

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev was in his best cocktail party form again last night, tossing off comments on a wide variety of topics. Some remarks of the Soviet Communist Party boss:

"I know (the United States) doesn't have the kind of rockets we have and you won't have them soon."

President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and all other American leaders would be welcomed in Moscow "as dear friends."

Marshal Georgi Zhukov "did not turn out well as a political figure but as a military figure he was a remarkable man."

"Does anyone doubt" that Britain is a satellite of the United States? Khrushchev immediately apologized for this remark and said he was "ready to take it back."

Khrushchev and most important Soviet government leaders turned up at an Egyptian embassy reception honoring Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, visiting Egyptian minister of war and joint commander of Egyptian and Syrian troops.

Khrushchev proposed a toast "to our armies—the armies of the Soviet Union, Egypt and Syria." Both the Egyptian and Syrian armies are armed and advised by Russia.

A British correspondent suggested to Khrushchev that the Soviet Union halt firing of its big rockets.

"We have to test them," the Soviet leader said. "What can we do, pickle them?"

"Put them in a museum," a reporter suggested.

"No room," Khrushchev replied. "Let's sink them all at sea. We'd be happy to do that if you do."

Nine New Buildings In Plans

State University System to Meet Demand for Room

New Paltz State Teachers College is expected to receive a total of $10,700,000 from the State University of New York as its share of a 250-million-dollar bond issue authorized by voters in the Nov. 5 election, The Freeman learned today.

Dr. William J. Haggerty, college president, explained that the allocation will be used for the construction of nine new buildings on the New Paltz campus and alterations to two other units.

The expansion program, he said, will increase the college's "teaching role," providing additional facilities to train junior high school teachers, and ultimately young men and women who plan to teach senior high school.

14 Colleges Included

The Associated Press in Albany reported today that expansion plans of the State University allocate $145,874,665 to the 14 teachers colleges in the 42-unit system.

It also was reported that expenditures of 55 million are planned for established and proposed two-year, community colleges—including those at Middletown and Dutchess County—and 46½ million for the university's two medical schools.

All other schools in the system will share the expansion funds.

No Starting Date

No date has been set for starting the program. State University President William S. Carlson said it will be "as soon as possible."

The New Paltz college presently has an enrollment of 1,250 students, Dr. Haggerty said, and it is expected this will be increased to more than 1,500 students by September, 1958, and over 2,000 by 1965.

A total of $118,874,665 for dormitories, classroom buildings, libraries and other facilities has been allocated for the following teachers colleges in the State: Albany, Buffalo, Brockport, Cortland, Fredonia, Geneseo, Oneonta, Plattsburgh, Potsdam and New Paltz.

New Paltz Program

Following is the construction planned at New Paltz, and the total cost of each unit:

1) Fine arts classroom and auditorium building, $3,350,000. 2) Three residence halls for 900 students, $1,580,000. 3) A dining hall for 400 students, $755,000. 4) A health and physical education building, $2,725,000. 5) A science building, $1,500,000. 6) Infirmary (there is none at present) $125,000. and 7) Garage-maintenance building, $75,000.

Dr. Haggerty noted that one of the residence halls is now under construction and is expected to be completed in June, 1958.

He explained that the expenditure of $1,580,000 for three residence halls represents 25 per cent of the total cost "since the remainder would be derived from the Dormitory Authority, which would include room rentals, etc."

To Be Remodeled

Alterations planned include remodeling of the School of Practice, $300,000; alterations to Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

From January 1948 to December 1956, the currency of France shrank 52%.

A man in France bought an annuity before World War I. It was to pay the equivalent of 2,000 $'s yearly; now it pays 60 $'s a year.

That's what inflation has done to France. It gnaws away the purchasing power of everybody's income and savings. It falls heavily on the thrifty, the aged and those with fixed incomes.

In 1914, 5 francs were worth 1 $. Now it takes 420 francs to be worth 1 $. That's a gruesome outlook.

When France's first World War I loan was made, the bonds which were to pay 3%, were grabbed by their patriotic people. Now the owner gets $1.80 per year on a 10,000 $ investment. It's practically worthless paper.

Frenchmen hesitate to put savings in their banks. They aren't sure what they will be worth a month ahead. The feeling is they will be less. The same applies to life insurance. Frenchmen fear France!

Frenchmen with inside information are buying shares, jewelry, gold, real estate or anything they think will have lasting value.

Labor unions, as in America, keep advancing wages, which makes everything cost more.

Why does inflation go on? It does so because the gold standard has been abandoned, because the world's currencies are substantially paper, and without a safeguard, are at the mercy of every political wind and bureaucratic whim.

But, neighbor, that can't go on forever!

Mrs. Donald Decker and Mrs. Nicholas Vegliando were hostesses at a stork shower held Friday evening at the Gardiner Hotel in honor of Mrs. Cornelius Taylor.

The Gardiner Fire Department answered a call at the Alex Thoben farm for two grass fires on Sunday.

Regular services will be held Sunday at the Reformed Church. Flowers in the sanctuary last Sunday were in memory of Harry Lunt. The Dutch Daughters will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Lenaz on Wednesday, Nov. 20 at 8 p. m. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Walter Bartsch.

Following the dinner pupils of Miss Pat Burke's dancing class of New Paltz gave a program. Participating were Miss Neane Winnie, Irma Betty, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. William Sietz, Bonnie Mackey and Ronnie Rhodes. A community sing program also was held.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (n) — Everyone is familiar with the tired business man, who returns home at the end of the day exhausted.

"You're working too hard," his friends tell him. "It's killing you." But it isn't the work he does at the office that makes the tired businessman so tired. It's the stress and strains of mind and body he must undergo before he gets to the office.

CALLOUSES

To relieve callouses, burning, tenderness on bottom of feet and remove callouses—ask for these soothing, cushioning pads.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads

It is said that former President Harry Truman prides himself on the fact he can rise, dress and be able to meet the problems of the day within 10 minutes.

Typical Schedule

The average business employee, however, isn't that efficient. Here is the schedule of our typical office hero after the alarm clock bugles him awake at 7 a. m.:

Time spent covering under covers until wife comes and drags him out—10 minutes.

Time spent with head under pillow until wife comes and drags him out second time—10 minutes.

Time spent sitting on edge of bed, yawning, scratching and wondering why stayed up until 1 a. m., watching that dumb 1935 movie on television—5 minutes.

Time spent doing pushups, deep knee bends, and reaching over to touch floor with knees only partly bent—30 seconds.

Five Minutes to Admire

Time spent admiring results in bedroom mirror—5 minutes.

Time spent showering, including period spent crawling around on tiles looking for soap—4 minutes.

Time spent shaving, brushing teeth and drinking sodium bicarbonate—4 minutes.

ATTACK ON POLLUTION

Even the most devoted champions of community and state do-it-yourselfing admit that in some fields the best results can be obtained with federal government help. It is becoming more clear that one of these fields is the whole broad matter on water and air pollution.

Dr. Leroy E. Burney, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, called attention to this at the recent annual meeting of state and territorial health officers. In stating the problem he declared, "We must learn more of the toxic effects on man—in long-continued, low-concentrated exposures—of the many physical and chemical forces to which he is now exposed."

Dr. Burney made it clear that he referred to both water and air pollution, and he emphasized the comparatively new factor of harmful radiation. "The increasing medical and industrial uses of fissionable materials," he said, "place responsibility in the realm of community health protection, since these major sources of exposure are the common experience of life and work, rather than the extraordinary and occasional experiences related to military operations."

Air and water pollution, whether by radiation or otherwise, are no respecters of community and state lines. A stream polluted in one state can cause damage in another; smog and dangerous chemicals in the air will go where the breezes take them without reference to political boundaries. These facts underscore the need for a co-operative approach to pollution control, with community, state and federal officials doing their part.

Wonder what those fellows aboard the submarine Nautilus have been up to? They had an ice pack over their heads for five and a half days.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

No one knows how many automobiles traverse the streets and highways of this country on a pleasant Sunday afternoon. The figure is in the millions, and the number of gallons of gasoline consumed by all those cars is a high multiple of that figure.

This consumption of a vast reservoir of gasoline on a single day serves to underline the fact that we are a people who spend our resources with a prodigal hand. It is of secondary importance that gasoline is expensive. The primary fact is that this fuel comes from irreplaceable reserves; once burned, it is gone, and there is absolutely no way to recover it.

This extravagant use of petroleum reserves is only one instance of our tendency to use up our resources without much regard for the future. Another example is provided by our wasteful use of that most basic resource, water.

There is something curious about this, for in most respects Americans are extremely solicitous as to the future well-being of their children. We take great pains to see that our children have proper nourishment and medical care to give them good health. Vast amounts of insurance stand ready to cushion them against need. In many other ways, adults seek to assure their children of a good and prosperous life.

Yet when it comes to preservation of our natural resources we seem almost to have a national blind spot. And the bitter fact of the matter is that if we do not begin conserving those resources we will be depriving the new generation of its proper heritage. A child born today will be only middle-aged half a century hence, and in half a century, if we gulp our basic resources—oil, gas, iron, and so forth—at the present rate, there will be conditions of rationing and austerity such as no other generation of Americans has ever had to endure.

The father of a teen-age rock and roll addict swears he's going to take his next vacation alone—in the peace and quiet of a busy sawmill.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE STATE OF THE NATION

The issue is war; the problem is not defense, it is survival.

These are the cruel facts which this generation faces and it might just as well gird itself for them. There are no alternatives, for even if actual shooting should not come, the cost of maintaining a state of war will be continuous. Every time a rocket is shot millions of dollars of American earnings go up in smoke. Those who still believe that we might find an alternative to war in the conflict between the West and Marxism are capable of ignoring the facts of life.

War is the extension of international relations from diplomacy to the use of force after diplomacy has failed. The United States is behind Soviet Russia today because charitable elements in the population and government believed that Soviet Russia would eventually prego the Leninist principle of world conquest; also, cowardly elements in the population believed that the cost of preserving this nation would be too great in lives and treasure to be worth while; also subversive elements were advocating delay and practicing sabotage in the interest and on behalf of the enemy.

Therefore, we are behind. We have the intelligence; we have the engineering skill and scientific knowledge not to have fallen behind. But selfishness and cowardice prevailed and the cupidity of politicians played with fate and we fell behind. Dr. von Braun, who should know, says that we are about five years behind; in 1945, we were perhaps half a century ahead of the world. This, however, is a matter of opinion and need not scare us.

A weapon is an instrument of destruction. Its value depends upon three principal factors—the total amount that it can destroy in area and human life at the least cost; the amount of propulsion necessary to remove the user of the weapon from the area of destructiveness; and the degree to which it can be limited to doing damage to the enemy without doing damage to the user. For instance, biologic warfare is not a true weapon because it cannot be limited to the enemy; a plague might turn around and destroy the user as well. Chemical warfare presents a similar peril.

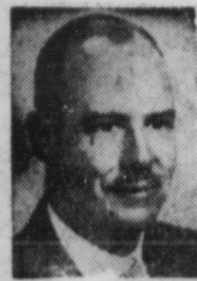

Perhaps the earliest weapons were scratching, biting and pummeling. They were limited in the amount of damage done; the combatants faced each other and the likelihood is that both were damaged. When some bright lad discovered the value of the cudgel, he placed himself at a greater distance from his opponent and was able to use more force in his blows. The lance was an improvement on the cudgel, but the rock and the machine devised to throw rocks and then to throw fire were great improvements because they increased the destructiveness of weapons and the distance between the user and the enemy.

Eventually came gun powder and a whole series of improvements, particularly in the size of weapons and in the means of transportation—the use of the horse, the elephant, the camel, the ship, the motor-driven land vehicles, the submarine, the airplane, bombs, rockets, and Sputniks.

Always the identical principles are involved: 1. increasing the destructiveness of a single weapon; 2. the propulsion of the destructive part of a weapon to remove it as far as possible from the user; 3. the reduction of the boomerang qualities of the weapon.

Weapons require money and labor and the cost of war is now so great that it is almost prohibitive except where slave labor is employed. War can therefore destroy all free societies without being fought; in a word, the constant preparation for war, the development of new weapons, the speed at which new weapons are adopted and old ones become obsolete—these factors can, of themselves, produce victory or defeat. A balance of weapons may maintain what is euphemistically called peace for a prolonged period, even measured by centuries. In time, however, the cost of such an engagement can, of itself, produce defeat through a constantly lowering standard of living as more and more of a nation's wealth goes into weapon making. A by-product of this effort is some scientific knowledge.

This is where we stand in the year 1957 and let us make no mistake about it. Senator Ellender's proposal that we go soft with Russia may have some favorable response in Soviet Russia; but the Russians will not go soft on us. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Insomnia Victim Must Seek Own Ways to Defeat Habit

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Mrs. L. writes that she is a light sleeper. Her greatest trouble is not being able to go back to sleep after being awakened. She requests a discussion of sleeplessness, or insomnia.

Certainly there are a great many people who do not sleep soundly all through the night and to whom this is a real problem. The difficulty seems more common among those who live in cities and those engaged in intellectual or desk work than among those who live an outdoor life with plenty of exercise. Furthermore, it is probable that many of those who complain of insomnia sleep better than they think they do.

Worry is doubtless one of the principal causes of insomnia. A proper frame of mind for falling asleep can sometimes be obtained by engaging in some hand work just before bedtime. Reading quietly often produces a desirable state of pre-bedtime relaxation.

VIOLENT EXERCISE before bedtime or eating heavily usually interfere with sleep. A short stroll or a drink of warm milk or some other fluid is often equally helpful. In other words, each person who suffers from insomnia should experiment with what prebedtime occupation is best suited to his or her own needs.

A frequent question is on the use of sleeping pills. The sleeping pill habit is easy to fall into. Once a person starts taking sleeping pills regularly they are likely to be taken more often and in larger doses. This can lead to a very undesirable habit.

IN FACT, THERE are many cases of chronic and even acute poisoning from the use of sleeping pills. It is far better not to rely on them regularly, but to conquer any sleeping difficulty by safer methods.

If a person sleeps an average of eight hours in each 24 and lives to the age of 70, over 23 years of his lifetime will be spent in sleep. If one must spend so much time sleeping, tossing and turning in bed while trying to get to sleep seems an awful waste.

Under such circumstances, not only does one fail to be refreshed by sleep, but also the time is lost from active play or work. Furthermore, too little sleep leads to fatigue and lack of energy so that full zest for the waking hours is also lost.

HOW MUCH SLEEP does a person need? There is considerable variation in grownups. Some people need as many as nine hours' sleep a night and others get by with six or less. This, then, is a matter which each person has to find out for himself or herself.

As long as a person sleeps reasonably soundly and feels refreshed in the morning after sleep, it can be assumed that enough is being obtained.

Operating Miss World and Miss Universe contests is going to be a formidable undertaking when the area of competition takes in the Moon, Mars, etc.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some of the chinks in President Eisenhower's first broadcast on science and national security are filled in by Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, in a much less publicized speech in Texas.

The program which President Eisenhower outlined in broad terms is obviously one that will take years to fulfill. It must start with greater scientific training for the entire nation, and "education requires time," as the President observed.

Dr. Waterman makes it more specific. Only 50 per cent of American high school graduates capable of receiving higher education go on to college. The start of the new science crusade, therefore, must begin with getting more students in college and giving special attention to those with scientific aptitude.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER spoke briefly of the need for giving higher priority to basic research — as contrasted with such practical things as military research on which the U.S. is spending a mere five billion dollars a year.

Dr. Waterman expressed the magnitude of this problem more specifically. He estimates that the United States is now spending 200 million dollars a year on basic research. Half of this now done in government laboratories, the other half in universities.

His own National Science Foundation, says Dr. Waterman, could support at least three times as much high-quality basic research. Even at 600 million dollars a year, this would still be less than the one billion the President says the government is now spending on missiles.

These figures do not include the cost of new facilities for basic research. Dr. Waterman gives the example of billion-volt accelerators for bombarding atomic nuclei.

THE BIGGEST accelerator in the U. S. today has a capacity of six bev—or six billion volts. The Russians already have a 10-bev machine in operation.

The United States is building a 25-bev machine at Brookhaven but the Russians are working on a 50-bev machine.

"We shall have to decide whether we are going to continue to compete in this field, at a cost of millions of dollars each," Dr. Waterman points out. "We need to keep constantly before us the fact that the Russians are engaged in an all-out drive to become supreme in science and technology," Dr. Waterman continues. "They are obviously sparing no effort and expense to support basic research and the highest priority to training scientists. If we are to hold our own in the face of such competition, citizens everywhere must face their responsibilities and provide what is needed."

In the field of satellites and missiles Dr. Waterman outlines a more specific program than the President for logical next steps.

AFTER GETTING the first American satellites in outer space, the second phase would be the recovery of a satellite to study its scientific records. This problem involves the safe reentry of a satellite into the earth's atmosphere, which President Eisenhower announced the United States has solved.

The third step, says Dr. Waterman, would be the development of a space platform from which scientific observations could be made indefinitely.

The fourth logical development, which Dr. Waterman mentions is to send a rocket to the moon, or send it around the moon and bring it back. The next step would be for man to make the attempt himself, but that will require more research.

The trip to the moon, 240,000 miles away, could be made in 10 hours, says Dr. Waterman. As for travel to other planets or to the nearest star, which are much farther away, "We should have to ask ourselves whether we are prepared to spend from one to five years traveling, at 186,000 miles a second." This, apparently is the limit of the scientific program ahead.

Truman Disputed on Story Of Missile - Plan Shelving

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Friends of former President Truman who know what happened in his administration are frankly amazed at his comment that a missile program which he started was deliberately abandoned by the present administration. Mr. Truman was referring to the mission which he gave K. T. Keller, formerly the head of the Chrysler Corp., to co-ordinate missile planning. He says he gave him full charge, but he really didn't. The work of Mr. Keller was not terminated by the Eisenhower administration, but by the auto executive himself.

The facts were given on Nov. 1 by Arthur Krock in "The New York Times" after a talk with Mr. Keller. The former President had ample opportunity to have his memory refreshed by reading the newspaper article, but he ignored it and preferred instead to charge the Eisenhower administration with a refusal to continue Mr. Keller in the task begun prior to 1953, Mr. Krock wrote.

"When the Truman administration was replaced, President Eisenhower asked Keller to remain and to take on the role of plenary administrator that he had declined when proffered by President Truman, and now once again declined. He was then 'importuned' to remain on his own terms, and did so remain, as an analyst and 'appraiser' until late 1953. At that point, estimating the missile program to be progressing effectively and at a satisfactory rate, and having spent himself physically, Keller on his own insistence retired.

Never in Full Charge
"So the difference between the former President's recollection and those of others principally concerned is fundamental: Keller was never in 'full charge' of the missile program; he refused the role. He was not 'dismissed' by President Eisenhower, but urged by the executive as by his predecessor to function under the McCone prescription. And Keller remained with the new administration in his original capacity as long as he chose."

This correspondent talked with Mr. Keller a few days after the above article appeared, and the former Chrysler president completely confirmed the viewpoint expressed therein. He added that he didn't believe in the "czar" idea, as did Under Secretary McCone, because of a feeling that any one who wanted to get results either had to be an important official of the Defense Department or an outside adviser. When he left Washington, he felt the Defense Department was getting along very well with the project and could handle it without some one in his place.

Mr. Keller, in his role of adviser and analyst, did a monumental job. Every one here knew he had the confidence of the White House, and he was able within the machinery of the government to get all the co-operation he needed.

The whole problem of missile development is not one that can really be placed in the hands of any one man except the President, who has the final responsibility. There are many factors and many aspects that require the advice of both scientists and military men. While there have been criticisms from some in each group for not developing the satellite ahead of the Russians, there is no evidence that America has suffered any defeat on the military front or in the development of missiles as a weapon of war.

Mr. Truman in his speeches lately has been banging away at the Eisenhower administration on the Little Rock controversy. He criticizes Gov. Faubus of Arkansas for having, as he says, failed to uphold the Constitution, but fails to recall that he himself seized the whole steel industry of America without legal authority. The Supreme Court of the United States said so in its opinion in June, 1952, reversing the seizure order, declaring the action of Mr. Truman had no justification under the Constitution.

Now the former President says that the Little Rock affair could have been handled by Mr. Eisenhower "without calling on the Army for help." Yet the officials under Mr. Truman did rely in the steel case in 1952 on precisely the same arguments, says that the Department of Justice a few weeks ago in defending the dispatch of Federal troops to Arkansas. Strange what a passion for partisan politics does to a former President's recollection of history in just five years. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—Home and office builders are watching closely today for the turn of the tide in the tight money mortgage market.

Some feel sure it will come next year, making 1958 the time to build. Others are just as sure that long term financing will be as tight and expensive two or three years from now as it is today.

Those who think tight money is due to ease soon cite a fall in supply of home mortgages this year because home building is off, and also count on an expected drop next year in demand for funds for business expansion. They argue these two things will make investment funds plentiful.

Blame Expensive Borrowing
The doubting Thomases say that there are fewer new mortgages today simply because money is so tight and borrowing so expensive that fewer persons can afford to build houses. They say that any drop in demand for new financing by business will be more than offset by rising demand for funds by state, local and federal governments.

They add that big lenders—insurance companies, large banks and investment firms—don't expect to have money to lend next year than this.

A drop in interest rates on long term borrowing such as mortgages for home and office building is called unlikely for some time, although short term interest rates may ease as business lets up on its demand for funds. Builders report interest charges still tend to rise, especially for commercial buildings.

Talk of Pickup
At the Dallas meeting last week of the Mortgage Bankers Assn. of America there was much optimism.

Use a screw-type nut cracker if you want to crack walnuts or pecans and have the nutmeats whole.

He also reports that in some sections builders are finding it hard to sell new houses. But he notes that almost everywhere apartment building is still booming. He thinks one reason is the rising property taxes on homes in many newly developed areas are making apartment dwelling more appealing.

TUBERCULOSIS EXPENDITURES
AMOUNT OF EXPENDITURES BY MAJOR TYPES
UNITED STATES, 1952 and 1956

In four years the cost of TB to the nation has increased from $600,000,000 to over $700,000,000. Most of this comes out of the taxpayer's pocket. The biggest increase has been in the cost of treating TB patients: hospitalization and rehabilitation. Through the Christmas Seal campaign, the tuberculosis associations raise money to prevent and control TB and cut down the future cost of this disease.

WALLKILL NEWS

Woman's Club Meeting
Held for November

WALLKILL — The Wallkill Woman's Club held their November meeting Friday at the Wallkill Community Room of the Valley National Bank. Mrs. Ira Wickner, president, conducted the business meeting. An invitation was read from the Walden Woman's Club to attend its meeting Nov. 18. Mrs. William S. Sharpy, president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the speaker.

A collection was taken for the foster children, which is an annual club project for the Christmas season.

Mrs. Ernest Bell, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Rowland Davis of Yonkers, a member of the development committee of the Woman's Division of the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry.

Mrs. Davis explained that her work with the Foundation is one of counselling those who need help because of emotional problems. Helpers are pastors, psychiatrists, physicians, and social workers of all races, colors and creeds.

In speaking of the urgency of this work, she stated that of those who apply for help only about 12 per cent are accepted. This is because of lack of trained workers and of adequate finances. The program also trains pastoral groups whom they hope will eventually establish similar clinics in other cities throughout the nation. She emphasized that all are considered for help and training.

In closing, Mrs. Davis urged a daily prayer of thankfulness for this great country and for the people who are working to help those who need help in their daily problems.

Also introduced was Mrs. Preston, a former vice-president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, who spoke briefly.

Mrs. George Brach was social chairman for the afternoon, and tea was served by Mrs. John Sloan.

The next regular meeting of the club, will be the Christmas party to be held December 13 at 7:30 p. m. in the bank building. Chairman of the event will be Mrs. Helen Anderson, social chairman will be Mrs. Duane Dolan. The program will consist of Christmas readings by Miss Helen Lyons, and music by the music committee. There will also be a gift exchange among the members.

38,000,000 Bedded by Colds, Flu From July 15 to October 5

Why We Say--

DIPLOMAT: This alkaloid is named after a reputable French diplomat who had nothing more to do with its use or discovery than smoking a cigarette. Jean Nicot introduced tobacco into France and it became known as "nicotine."

Boy, 6, Is Victim Of Hunting Mishap

HAMMONDSPOUT (AP)—Richard E. Ribble, 6, was accidentally shot and killed by his half-brother yesterday while the two were hunting pigeons in a barn at their home in this Steuben County village, police said.

Authorities said the half-brother, Frank Howell, 12, stumbled and fell, discharging a .22 caliber rifle he was carrying. The boys were climbing down from a hayloft.

The bullet passed through Richard's shoulder and entered his chest. He died instantly, authorities said.

Richard was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ribble.

Production Increased

In the past five years the French cotton industry has increased its productivity in spinning and weaving by slightly more than 50 per cent.

CUSTOMERS—That's what every merchant and service man is looking for. The surest, quickest way to invite new, steady customers is by using The Kingston Daily Freeman classified ads. Call FE 1-5000 today.

CLEVELAND (AP)—At least one fourth of the nation's people have had to spend a day or more in bed since mid-summer because of severe colds, sore throat, Asian flu or similar upper respiratory ills, a report by a U. S. Public Health Service official showed today. There were 38,000,000 so affected from mid-July to October 5 alone.

Dr. William Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general of USPHS told about it in summarizing the latest available data on the Asian flu situation. He addressed the 85th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association.

Hard to Determine

Stewart said the true prevalence of Asian flu is difficult to determine for various reasons—including the fact that symptoms can't be differentiated from other types of upper respiratory infections.

But he declared some idea of the prevalence could be derived from reports obtained in connection with the "national health survey" in which the Bureau of Census interviews a representative national sample of households for the Public Health Service.

"The resulting estimates indicate," he said, "that the average number of persons in bed each day as a result of acute upper respiratory disease (of various kinds) rose from about 200,000 in mid-July. At that time the new cases averaged approximately 380,000 per week."

"During the period from July 15 to October 5 there were an estimated 38,000,000 people with acute respiratory disease severe enough to cause them to go to bed."

3,000,000 Weekly

Stewart said that during the week ended October 12, "an estimated 8,500,000 persons throughout the country had colds, sore throats, influenza or similar diseases severe enough to put them to bed... the average number of persons in bed each day that week as a result of these illnesses was about 3,000,000. A great many of these cases undoubtedly were Asian influenza."

Dies of Injuries

UTICA (AP)—Pasquale Manfredo, 78, of Utica, died in a hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Monday when he was hit by an automobile as he was crossing a street.

FCC Hearing Off On Upstate Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—A postponed Federal Communications Commission hearing on an Amsterdam, N. Y., radio license dispute will resume Nov. 25.

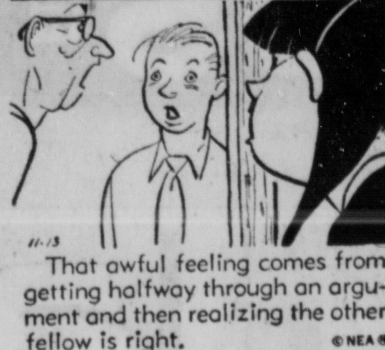

The afternoon session yesterday was cancelled when the hearing examiner, Miss Elizabeth Smith, suffered a nose bleed and was forced to go to a hospital for treatment.

Later, she set Nov. 25 for resumption of the hearing on the dispute between Walter T. Gaines and radio station WCSS, Amsterdam.

The FCC has granted Gaines a permit to construct radio station WGAV in Amsterdam. A hearing was not held. WCSS filed a protest, questioning Gaines's personal and financial qualifications to build and operate the station. Gaines is a former manager of WCSS.

At the end of yesterday's hearing, Gaines just had completed presentation of his side of the case. WCSS will present its argument Nov. 25. Gaines also owns station WLFH in Little Falls, N. Y.

NEMA Elects Officer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A. D. R. Fraser of Rome, N. Y., yesterday was elected a vice president of the National Electrical Manufacturers Assn.

He was named during NEMA's 31st annual meeting.

• BRIDGE*Skill Needed for Big SlamBy OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North's bidding was entirely too enthusiastic. He should have contented himself with a small slam.

West opened the king of spades, and when South looked at the dummy, he noted immediately that the entire play for seven was to find the queen of clubs and use one of his clubs to discard dummy's low diamond.

A peek would have made the hand automatically, but without a peek South had to decide on the play to give the maximum chance for success, and the one he worked out fulfilled all conditions.

South started by ruffing the opening spade lead. A trump to dummy pulled both opposition trumps and the ace of spades was led. South letting a diamond go from his hand. The last spade was ruffed and now South played three rounds of trumps. He discarded another diamond and East and West let go two spades and a diamond each.

The next three plays were: ace of clubs, king of clubs and jack of clubs, which declarer trumped in dummy. Now dummy's last trump was led and East was squeezed. He held the guard for the king of diamonds, since his only hope was that South did not hold another club. This meant that he had to let the queen of clubs go and South made the grand slam. The whole play had been perfect technique. Not only did South's method of attack insure success if the queen of clubs was held by the player with short clubs, but it gave an extra chance for a mistake. If West held the queen of clubs, he might have covered the jack with the queen. Finally it gave the extra winning chance. East held both the queen of clubs and king of diamonds and ran into the squeeze.

Battling Oldsters

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A landlord, 74, accused his tenant, 81, of spreading lies about him.

The tenant took exception and jumped from his chair to punch his landlord in the nose. The 84-year-old tenant then grabbed a stove shaker and hit the landlord again. The landlord grabbed a baseball bat and took after his tenant.

After the fight the 74-year-old landlord went to a tavern for a beer. The bartender called for an ambulance, sheriff's deputies and a doctor.

The two oldsters required some stitching. Twelve stitches were taken in the head of the 74-year-old landlord and 20 in the scalp of the 84-year-old tenant.

Supply Problem

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Back in 1881, Lucky Baldwin, the early California millionaire, built an exquisite Queen Anne Cottage here for his third wife.

The house has stained glass windows brought from Europe. White marble was brought from Vermont and dark marble from Tennessee. The marble fireplaces probably were imported from Italy. The ceilings are 14 feet high and there are fancy chandeliers and tall narrow windows.

The elaborate house seems complete except for one thing. It does not have a kitchen. Food was prepared in a house on the other side of a small lake and transported to the Baldwin cottage by boat.

U.S. Cool Toward

legal framework for wartime economic regulation.

Sometimes Necessary

He added that although he abhors controls, there are circumstances in which they are "necessary to preserve our free enterprise system against the forces of panic and runaway inflation that inevitably come with great emergencies."

But Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said in an interview that "controls won't solve the problem," and added:

"Every business man I have talked to agrees that the steam has gone out of inflation. By the time Congress convenes again I think we will have had at least one month when living costs have not gone up."

Favors Limited Spending

Bennett called instead for limited

ed spending. He said that if more money is needed for missile development and other defense needs, as President Eisenhower said in a radio-TV talk last night, the extra amount ought to be shaved off other activities to prevent deficit spending.

He said that putting additional billions of dollars into missile development is not going to guarantee the United States will overwhelm Russia in this field.

But Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) said in a separate interview that if Congress permits the desire for a balanced budget to interfere with an all-out effort, this country is likely to lose the missile and satellite contests.

"If we want to be the richest satellite of Russia, that is the way to proceed," he said.

Community Will Try Adult Night Theatre Policy

From today on, Thursdays will be "Adult Night" at the Walter Reade Community Theatre on Broadway.

This was announced today by Michael Dorso, manager, who said that only those over 18 years of age will be admitted. Walter Reade Jr., theatre circuit president, adopted the policy so "adults can enjoy our motion pictures in a quiet, comfortable atmosphere."

Dorso said "it is an experiment to see whether the adult patronage will respond favorably to the idea."

"Throughout the year," he added, "we cater to our younger patrons with many types of kiddie attractions and special reduced admission cards for students."

"To our knowledge," Dorso said, "this is the first time in this part of the country that a theatre has given special consideration to adults."

Paltz Getting

main building (constructed in 1907) $220,000; heating line to Student Union Building, $40,000; development of athletic playing fields, $100,000, and land acquisition, $110,000.

Dr. Haggerty noted that New Paltz "is going ahead quickly in preparing junior high school teachers," and it is expected many of these teachers will become certified in the near future to teach senior high school.

Bigger Teacher Demand
"The 'bursting-at-the-seams' condition which now exists in elementary schools throughout the state undoubtedly will result in an increased demand for junior and senior high school teachers," Dr. Haggerty indicated, and the New Paltz College is preparing itself for that eventuality.

The Associated Press report noted that the present enrollment in the state university (all schools) is 35,000 full-time and 20,000 part-time students. Several thousand applicants were turned away this year for lack of space.

The expansion program is expected to boost enrollment to 60,000 full-time and 40,000 part-time students.

Allocations Listed
These are allocations (in addition to the state teachers colleges) under the expansion program, which, with revenues from state appropriations and other sources, totals 320 million dollars:

Central administration building, Albany — $1,030,000.

Medical colleges, Syracuse and Manhattan — $46,561,160, principally for teaching hospital and clinical facilities.

Harpur College — $14,315,000, for miscellaneous buildings at the new campus in Vestal.

Cornell University — $26,170,000 for new buildings and expansion of the various schools and colleges at the university.

College of Ceramics, Alfred University — $1,050,000 for research laboratory-library building and garage-maintenance shop.

College of forestry, Syracuse University — $2,650,000, for building additions, new faculty residences and other construction.

Maritime college, Fort Schuyler — $4,200,000, for dormitories, permanent gym, science and engineering laboratory — classroom building.

Agricultural and technical institutes — $25,481,000, various new buildings and additions at Alfred, Canton, Delhi, Cobleskill, Farmingdale and Morrisville.

Long Island science-mathematics-teachers colleges — $27,000,000 for permanent campus.

For Community Colleges
A total of 32 million dollars will be spent on the 11 community colleges that were operating last year and 22½ million on newly established and proposed community colleges.

In the latter category are new units approved for Dutchess County (Poughkeepsie), Corning-Elmira and the Bronx. The university has proposed others for the Rochester, Syracuse, Albany and Long Island areas.

The existing community colleges are in Middletown, Jamestown, Buffalo, Auburn, Binghamton, Utica-New Hartford, Troy, White Plains, Manhattan, Brooklyn and Staten Island.

Under the community college system, the state pays half of the construction cost.

The expansion plans prescribe permanent plants for units that have been using rented or temporary headquarters and for modernization and expanding facilities of those that are already in permanent plants.

For fun at a teen-age party try this: Clip an amusing story from a magazine or newspaper cutting each sentence apart. The leader keeps the first sentence and the others are jumbled. Each guest draws one. The leader reads his sentence and the others read theirs where they think they fit in. The result is sure to be funny and to provide many a good laugh.

New FHA Plans

jurisdiction and will be handled directly by the FHA approved lending institutions which have been certified as authorized agents of the commissioner.

"This direct, on-the-spot, processing of applications for FHA home mortgage insurance is expected to be the answer to the problems we have had to meet in areas far removed from the FBA Insuring Office," he said.

Arranged by Lumbermen
The program has been arranged, he said, by the Northeastern Retail Lumbermen's Association.

"This small towns program is designed to make the FHA's insured home mortgage program available to prospective home owners in areas removed from cosmopolitan centers. It will not be operative in the larger cities of our jurisdiction, but rather is intended to meet the needs and desires of people residing in communities having a population of less than 15,000."

Hanigan said his office is now accepting applications from persons interested in qualifying for appointment as either an "authorized FHA appraiser," or as a "certified FHA inspector." Application forms for either position may be secured by writing to: Federal Housing Administration, 100 State Street, Albany 7, N. Y.

Persons qualifying for these positions will be selected to make appraisals or construction inspections by lending institutions acting as authorized agents of the federal housing commissioner. Fees for each appraisal or inspection will be arranged with the lending institution, Hanigan said.

Lists Qualifications
He listed the following qualifications for appraisers: 1) Evidence of five years experience in residential property appraisal.

2) Ability to read and understand plans and specifications, and 3) Willingness to become familiar with FHA Minimum Property Standards, appraisal form and instructions.

Letters of application must be accompanied by letters of recommendation, he said.

Qualifications for inspectors, he listed, as follows: 1) Evidence of five years experience in residential construction or building material sales requiring knowledge of a wide range of building materials and their proper use.

2) Ability to read and understand plans and specifications, and 3) Willingness to become familiar with FHA Minimum Property Standards, inspection forms and instructions.

With each application, letters of recommendation must be furnished.

Hanigan said appraisals and inspections made under the certified agency program will be limited to properties located 1) within the jurisdiction of the Albany FHA office, and 2) within the specific rural areas determined by the office to be eligible under the program. Generally, he said, the areas to be excluded from the program are the metropolitan areas of the larger cities.

Must Be Residents
He said it is intended that fee appraisers and inspectors who will qualify to serve in the program should be residents of the rural areas in which the program is functioning.

"It is desirable, of course, that in small townships, local or neighborhood appraisers or inspectors be used in our program since they would be most familiar with local backgrounds, property values and such other conditions as would affect an acceptable insurance risk."

Deaths
By The Associated Press

PEORIA, Ill. (U-P) — Claude U. Stone, 78, sometime U. S. representative in Congress and former editor and publisher of the Peoria Star, died yesterday. He was elected to the House in 1910 and served three terms. He was editor of the Star from 1938 to 1949 when he resigned because of illness.

LONGMEADOW, Mass. (U-P) — Dr. Laurence Locke Doggett, 92, president emeritus of Springfield (Mass.) College, died yesterday. He became president of Springfield College in 1906 and retired in 1935. He was born in Manchester, Iowa.

ATHENS, Ohio (U-P) — Clinton N. Mackinnon, 68, professor emeritus of English at Ohio University, died yesterday. He was a member of the faculty from 1912 until his retirement in 1955. He was born in Boston.

Macapagal Boosts Lead

MANILA (U-P) — Liberal Congressman Diosdado Macapagal increased his lead in the contest for Philippine vice president today. Counting of Tuesday's votes continued to show victory for President Carlos Garcia.

After a brief decline yesterday, Macapagal again was running well ahead of Jose B. Laurel Jr., Garcia's Nacionalista Party running mate. Returns from strong Nacionalista provinces indicated a widespread ballot splitting.

The latest unofficial tabulations gave Macapagal 1,082,725 votes to Laurel's 829,365. Other vice presidential candidates were out of the running but the race between the two leaders was still not conceded.

Wide Area . . .
sound barrier at 40,000 feet. The intensity of the explosion was due to freak atmospheric conditions, it was explained.

There were rumors in the Ellenville area that two cylinders of gas had exploded.

No Explosion at Fire
Chief Robert Dawson of Pioneer Engine Company of Ellenville said that there was no explosion at the Maple Grove House.

A deluge of telephone calls were reported widely throughout the area affected by the explosion.

Ellenville state police said it was reported that houses in the area had been shaken by the blast.

The second floor of the Maple Grove House was described as gutted and the roof burned off.

No Damage Estimate
There was no immediate estimate of damage to the frame building, known as the old Bernstein property. It was unoccupied at the time.

A passing motorist saw flames shooting up from the building and notified the fire company.

Napanoch Fire Company also responded. Woodbourne Fire Company stood by.

Firemen returned to their stations about 1:30 a. m. today. At 2:30 a. m., however, Pioneer Engine Company returned to the scene when it was reported that flames had again broken out.

30,000 Flee Floods
ROVIGO, Italy (U-P) — More than 30,000 Po River delta inhabitants fled today from a combination of flood waters and Adriatic Sea tides sweeping this North Italy farm area for the fifth time in two years.

The town of Porto Tolle was being evacuated after a 15-foot stretch of dike gave way last night. While motorboats and fishing craft removed 23,000 residents and 7,000 flood refugees from the town, other delta residents crowded along the only road left open to higher ground.

No casualties were reported from the floods. They began Monday after several days of rain on the upper Po River. Dikes began letting both flood and sea water into rich farm land.

Burn Cuban Crops
HAVANA, Cuba (U-P) — Soldiers of rebel leader Fidel Castro, putting the torch to sugar cane fields and tobacco warehouses in an attempt to bring down President Fulgencio Batista, were estimated today to have burned crops worth nearly 2½ million dollars.

So far the dent in Cuba's economy was negligible. Qualified sources said the rebels had fired about one-third of one per cent of Cuba's 3,200,000 acres of cane.

Castro's band of about 600 guerrillas and their supporters reportedly had started 54 big fires in the last four days. All of them centered around approaches to the rebel leader's hideout in the Sierra Maestra Mountains of easternmost Oriente Province.

Charge Dismissed
A stop-sign charge against Mearion Tyler, 56, of 129 South Main Street, Catskill, has been dismissed, it was reported. Tyler, who was arrested after a two-car accident at Mary's Avenue and West O'Reilly Street last month, was due in city court today, but it was noted that the complaint had been withdrawn.

Greater Defense

technological break-throughs in particular areas may have suddenly exposed us to immediately increased danger.

Must Serve as Warning
"As I pointed out last week, this is not the case. But these accomplishments have provided us all with renewed evidence of Soviet competence in science and techniques important to modern warfare. We must, and do, regard this as a time for another critical reexamination of our entire defense system."

The President's talk here climaxed Oklahoma's 50th anniversary "Arrows to Atoms" celebration of its statehood. He headed back to Washington by plane immediately after the speech.

Military Pay Raise
In his address, the President indicated some areas in which increased spending loomed:

1. The stepped up dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.

2. Improvements of the warning system for any possible enemy attack.

3. Development of an active missile defense against missiles.

4. Additional money where needed in the development of long-range missiles.

5. A pay raise for military personnel.

Of the U. S. satellite and missiles program, Eisenhower said: "We intend to carry forward our programs in a way that will do credit to our scientific tradition and insure our security over the years ahead. This, again, will involve substantial costs."

No Reduction Foreseen
"Now, all these new costs, which in the aggregate will reach a very considerable figure, must be added to our current annual expenditures for security. There is no immediate prospect for any marked reduction in these recurring costs."

Eisenhower did not estimate how much defense spending will have to be increased after paring the budget wherever possible on non-military categories. But he did say:

"By whatever amount savings fail to equal the additional costs of security, our total expenditures will go up."

"Our people will rightly demand it. They will not sacrifice security worshipping a balanced budget."

Indispensable Aid
"But we do not forget, either, that over the long term a balanced budget is one indispensable aid in keeping our economy, and therefore our total security, strong."

Defense spending in the current fiscal year ending June 30 will exceed $3 billion dollars, the target originally fixed. As for the next fiscal year, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) estimated after a conference with Eisenhower recently that the missiles program may increase spending in that field by one to two billion dollars.

Says Prints Match
WASHINGTON (U-P) — The FBI said today fingerprints found on an abandoned automobile which figured in the killings of two North Carolina state highway patrolmen on Nov. 5 have been identified as those of a man who escaped from a New York State mental hospital.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover named the fugitive as Frank Edward Wetzel, 36, who fled last month from the mental hospital at Willard, N. Y.

The FBI director said a nationwide search is now under way for Wetzel.

Girl Patient, 8,
is now fifth highest in the state.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, commissioner of health, in commenting on this fact said, "Tuberculosis won't be wiped out of Ulster County this year or next year, but progress is being made."

He pointed out that Ulster County's rise from 7th to 5th highest number of cases was not indicative of lack of progress but rather it reveals slower improvement than has been made in some other counties.

It means, "we must continue the informational and educational attack to combat the misconception about tuberculosis being licked, and we must continue our search for those persons who have the infection, so they may receive early treatment."

The Mature Parent

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

... Fight Another Day Best Course for Child

Our 8-year-old son is being molested on his way to school by an older boy who's just moved into the next block," writes Mrs. K. "Should we report this bully's behavior to the school authorities? Buddy is afraid of our doing this in case the older boy takes some kind of revenge."

What about locating a new, round-about school route for Buddy? Or would he and his father scorn this evasive solution as cowardly "running away"?

If so, I remind Mr. K. that hiding from enemies is a defensive strategy used by all young creatures. Their parents deliberately teach them the art of self-effacement until they have developed the muscles, tusks, antlers and other fighting equipment that enables them to engage their enemies on equal terms.

Unfortunately, in our society, hiding from bigger enemies has somehow got mixed up with notions of cowardice. So fathers resist the idea of saying to harassed little sons, "Until you can take on this big kid with some hope of licking him, stay away from him."

Thus I am a little nervous about advancing it as sensible paternal counsel. Unless Mr. K. respects it as sensible, too, his belief that he's encouraging "cowardice" in Buddy will be transferred to his child who will feel like a stinker when he hides from his enemy instead of like the resourceful child he is.

He can better endure scratches and nose bleeds.

Where we get the idea that manliness is reacting to all challenges any bully wants to offer, I don't know. But it does seem a pretty silly one. As reasonable people, male or female, we all have to learn to discriminate between times when it's profitable to fight and times when it's not.

Once there was a brave knight. At a jousting, he won a brilliant victory over another knight who had challenged the supreme beauty of the lady he loved. As he was leaving the field, a wild beast was set loose. From her safe seat among the spectators, his lady flung down her glove between him and the beast. He picked it up, threw it back at her, walked off—and married another lady.

I've always thought him one of the more intelligent knights. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Infant Burned to Death

MAMARONECK (N. Y.) — A month-old boy was burned to death yesterday in his nursery.

The child was Nicholas Iannarelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Iannarelli. His mother, downstairs, had smelled smoke but thought it was from a leaf fire outside.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. The Iannarellis have two other children.

A mustard sauce is delicious over fresh berries or sliced fresh fruit.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all who made my election possible.

U. S. Pilots Watching Canadian River Strike

ALEXANDRIA (B. A.) — American pilots will press demands for compulsory pilotage of ships through the St. Lawrence River if Canadian pilots are successful in their strike, a spokesman says.

Capt. John Blank III, president of Local 23, Great Lakes, of the American Pilots Division of the AFL-CIO Licensed Tugmen's Protective Assn., said yesterday American pilots "could be expected to follow suit" if the Canadian were successful.

He said his unit had been conferring frequently with the Canadian pilots.

Fifty-two pilots of the Montreal, Quebec, Ont. run have been on strike since Nov. 5 in support of their demand that compulsory pilotage charges be established for their district. This would require that every vessel traversing their district pay a pilotage fee whether using a pilot or not.

The Canadian pilots operate under federal jurisdiction.

Ontario Opposes Thruway Span as Blow to Tourists

TORONTO (N. Y.) — Niagara Falls, Ont., urges a different location for a proposed international bridge across the Niagara River to link two expressways.

A Niagara Falls delegation met yesterday with highways Minister James Allan and expressed opposition to a bridge, proposed by the New York State Thruway Authority, that would link the Thruway with the Queen Elizabeth Way near Queenston.

The group told Allan the plan would tend to route traffic through Niagara Falls, N. Y., to Lewiston, bypassing Niagara Falls, Ont., and damaging the latter's tourist trade.

The delegation asked that any international link be built at Grand Island.

Allan said that the bridge proposal was still in the discussion stage and that no definite plans or cost estimates had been developed. He said the group's suggestions would be considered carefully.

Harold Logan, president of the Niagara Falls, Ont., Chamber of Commerce, was spokesman for the delegation.

Missing Whispell Busy at Art as Officers Arrive

Robert Whispell, 12, of 31 East Pierpont Street, who was missing from his home since Monday, was having a fling at art in Woodstock, authorities learned yesterday.

Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and Earl Conro, county investigator, found the missing boy at the shop of a picture framer yesterday, and when they walked in he was busy with a drawing.

Changes Name
For artistic, and probably other reasons, young Whispell had decided to use the name, Robert Whitmore, but when the officers indicated they were sure he was better known as Robert Whispell, he readily dropped the pseudonym, and agreed to go back to Kingston with them.

After arriving in Woodstock, the authorities learned, the boy went to the picture-framing shop and studio of Norton Moore, Bearsville road, in the village. There he became interested in framing and in several paintings and prints on display.

Became Suspicious
When it came time for him to leave the shop, the boy told Moore that he lived in one of the newer developments along the Bearsville road. His family was in New York, he said, and he preferred not to go home.

Moore let him stay, but finally became suspicious and notified authorities. While at the shop, it was indicated the boy kept himself busy drawing and showed keen interest in his efforts.

Vredenburg and Conro took Whispell to police headquarters in Kingston, where he was questioned by Lt. Grover S. Hoffay and returned to his home.
Local police were notified at 1:20 a. m., Tuesday that the boy had been missing from home since about 6 p. m., Monday.

Inmate Attacks Guard, Fellow Prisoners, Dies

DANNEMORA (AP)—A state hospital inmate beat a guard and two other inmates yesterday, then collapsed and died after he was overpowered by other guards, hospital authorities said.

Dr. Francis C. Shaw, director of the Dannemora State Hospital for the criminal insane, said Joseph Evans, 25, seized a section of pipe in the cafeteria and beat guard Alfred Defayette unconscious.

Evans turned on two other inmates before being overpowered, Shaw said.

The doctor said Evans had been suffering from heart trouble. Over-exertion apparently caused death, he said.

Defayette was treated at Physicians Hospital in Plattsburgh for a brain concussion and a 2½-inch scalp laceration. The hospital said his condition was not serious.

One of the inmates suffered a shoulder bruise, the other got off with a ripped shirt. The hospital did not identify them.

Shaw said Evans had a record of assaults, including three at Auburn State Prison. Evans was transferred from there to Dannemora. He had been sentenced to 5 to 10 years in prison after a robbery conviction in New York City. He would have been released next Jan. 12.

Dist. Atty. Thomas R. North and Coroner David A. Weeks of Clinton County said they would investigate the incident.

Trucks Must Display New Tax Plates in '58

ALBANY (AP)—Big trucks will have to display new tax plates next year.

This applies to trucks that are subject to the state's truck-mileage tax—all those with gross weight over 18,000 pounds.

New plates will cost $2 a set and new registrations $5.

The State Tax Commission said yesterday it had ruled the present "second series" of truck mileage plates, issued in 1955, to be invalid after Dec. 31. State law authorizes the commission to require new plates every three years. The first series was issued in 1951.

About 45,000 carriers with 355,000 vehicles will have to buy "third series" plates.

While the second series will expire Dec. 31, the commission has set aside January as a grace period. At the end of January, all trucks subject to the tax must have the new plates.

The plates will bear orange numerals on a black background. They will be marked "NY 3," signifying the third series, and "TMT," standing for Truck Mileage Tax.

Penicillin in Milk

Under Gotham Check

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York City Health Department plans to check on milk delivered in the city to determine whether it contains any penicillin used by dairy farmers in treating their cows.

Reports have been received from retail milk dealers that the drug was found in milk.

Paul Corash, head of the health department's milk division, said yesterday that samples of milk would be tested at the department's laboratory.

Corash said tests made about a year ago showed no significant amount of penicillin in milk.

Tests, expected to start next week, will be on raw milk coming to pasteurization plants here from the New York milkshed, including upstate areas, parts of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Vermont.

The health department explained that penicillin in milk may be objectionable because of the bad reactions of those people sensitive to it.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY — On the surface at least, Gov. Harriman's new budget director faces an almost impossible task.

His job is to produce an election-year budget that will allow for greater spending, perhaps on proportionately less income, and one that will:

1. Please his fellow Democrats
2. Calm critical Republicans and
3. Win votes.

He's Unruffled

Thirty-nine-year-old Clark Ahlberg, a friendly man with dark wavy hair and glasses, enters on his mission with no sign of dismay and with unruffled good humor.

From the fiscal expert's viewpoint, the state budget for the fiscal year beginning next April 1 promises to be the toughest to compose in many a year.

These are the reasons: After a long period of steadily increasing prosperity, the nation's economy is said to be leveling off. This means a leveling, too, in state tax revenues—income.

No Predictions Yet

Ahlberg says he's not ready yet to make any predictions but does not look for "any dramatic increase" in income next year.

On the other hand, state spending continues to rise. Much of the increase is mandated by law through state-aid formulas based on population figures, school attendance and so forth.

This year's budget ran well over 1½ billion dollars, the highest ever. The new budget almost certainly will reach 1½ billion.

By law, the state's budget must be balanced. If income does not meet outgo, the alternatives seem to be either to raise taxes or dip into reserves.

Neither Want Blame

Raise taxes in an election year? Neither the Republicans in control of the Legislature nor the Democratic administration would want to take the blame.

Then how about the reserves? But Ahlberg says you can't coast very far on reserve funds. They won't last forever.

The way to keep down spending, says Ahlberg, is not to whack off state programs indiscriminately but to reexamine constantly the functions of the various agencies in order to find and make economies.

To Weigh Requests

Ahlberg and his budget division staff just wound up the annual budget hearings, which ran more than two weeks. Spokesmen for all the state departments and agencies trooped in to explain why they simply must have more working funds.

Between now and January, Ahl-

THE CHANGING SCENE—For 200 years this windmill was a lonely sentinel outside Amsterdam. It now has plenty of life surrounding it with the growth of the city's suburbs.

First Mass Production

Clocks and watches were the first industrial products to be mass produced on a large scale. Assembly lines, using interchangeable parts, were developed by New England factories more than 150 years ago.

Legal Pastime

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP)—A lawyer made an unusual request of District Judge L. A. Wood. He asked for a court order to provide a checker set for use by attorneys waiting for juries to report.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time... with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it from place to place. We aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

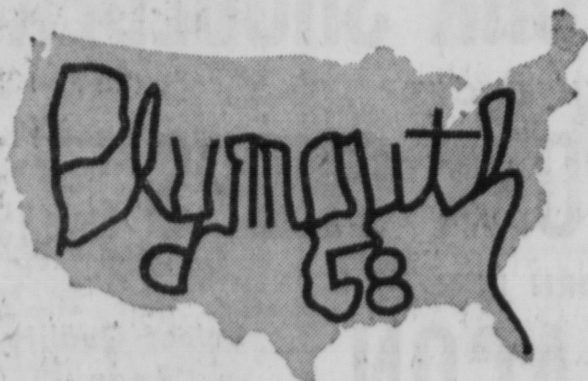

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

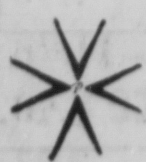

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this Plymouth crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way up and down across the country... passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes... creeping through city traffic... arrowing down super-highways... feeling its way through 500 miles of rutted detours. And when the drivers turned the key to end the marathon, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself—today? You'll see what we mean.

That's the Plymouth "track"... and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Remember the good old fashioned parties before TV and radio. One seldom hears about house parties nowadays. If there is some reason to celebrate it is done in a public place.

I liked the home-cooked style way with the neighbors bringing in their best foods forward to be set on the table.

Going back to 1890 in the August 13 Kingston Argus there is an item from the Flatbush column perhaps some folks remember: "Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Osterhoudt celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on the 4th inst. Many valuable presents were made by the guests. Mrs. A. Turck, counterpane; I. E. Siperly, counterpane; Cyrus Osterhoudt, silver castor and mats; William Cassidy, pickle castor; Maggie Hendricks, testament; Rev. R. DeWitt, Moody Sermons; Mrs. E. Griffin, silver knives; Mrs. R. Rittie, glass castor; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Riley, silver cake basket; Mr. and Mrs. Swart, syrup cup; Mrs. A. Carl, lamp; Mrs. Levi Burhans, cake stand; Mrs. P. G. Burhans, fruit dish; Mrs. Hiram Osterhoudt, towels; Allie Rittie, silver batter knife; Mrs. B. Osterhoudt, half doz. spoons Lillie Osterhoudt, dozen nut picks; Anna Osterhoudt, nut picks; Alice Rittie, butter knife; Miss Masten, butter knife; Misses Peck, towels and album; Mrs. J. Relyea, stand cover."

I wonder how many folks remember the New York Condensed Milk Co. at Wallkill. At the time of the above newspaper printing they received some 23,000 quarts of milk at the condensary. They had taken on several milk farms which were left out in the spring. John H. Merriehew had been promoted to be teamster at the condensary.

He drove a team of large horses. He was used to teaming before he moved to Wallkill. It also said that Nelson Smith, the superintendent of the condensary, is improving the grounds about the buildings, relaying the walks and graveling the roadways around the place.

They had an advertisement in this paper which all the banks of Kingston agreed on July 1, 1890 to open at 10 a. m. and close at 3 p. m. except Saturday when they closed at noon.

The banks of Kingston in 1890 were: State of New York National Bank, Kingston National Bank, Ulster County Savings Institution, Kingston Savings Bank, First National Bank of Rondout, The National Bank of Rondout, The National Ulster County Bank and Rondout Savings Bank.

Those were the days when ice cream did not come out of a freezer run by electric power. The High Falls confectionery and ice cream rooms owned by E. E. Goethius at Krum's Building advertised "Ice Cream on Fridays and Saturdays." They had soft drinks on hand and a full assortment of confectionery, Poughkeepsie Cream Wafers and Fruit Crackers.

Here's an item from "City Paragraphs"—"J. T. Rider has leased the fine store in the Paynter building, 32 Wall Street and will open the same on Saturday, August 16, with a large stock of pianos, organs and musical instruments etc. There will be a musical entertainment at the opening and the public is invited."

From time to time one runs across old framed pictures and books in which is a sticker of J. T. Rider. That would make at the most less than 70 years old, any of those items if that was Rider's first store in Kingston.

Tony Bennett Not Anxious for Show, To Study TV More

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — In a season when every singer wants his own television program — and nearly everyone has a show — Tony Bennett is an exception. He doesn't want his own program — yet.
All jazzophiles know Bennett. Hit records, a popular night club act, frequent guest appearances on TV... Bennett's away at the top in his field. But even a jazz-phobe would enjoy meeting him. He's a pleasant, modest, articulate guy who rather reminds you of Perry Como before absolutely everybody knew Como.
Here's what we mean: Three of Bennett's friends, seated around him the other day, were telling a fellow that Bennett had turned down several offers for his own show when Bennett said:

Not Ready Yet
"Look, don't give the impression that the networks were clubbing each other over the head to get me. There was an opportunity and if I'd tried hard for it maybe I'd have gotten it, but I didn't want my own show."
That's interesting. Why not?
"I'm not ready for it yet, I feel," Bennett said. "I have a lot to learn. You might say I'm trying to study television, and there's no better opportunity to do that than appearing in guest spots."

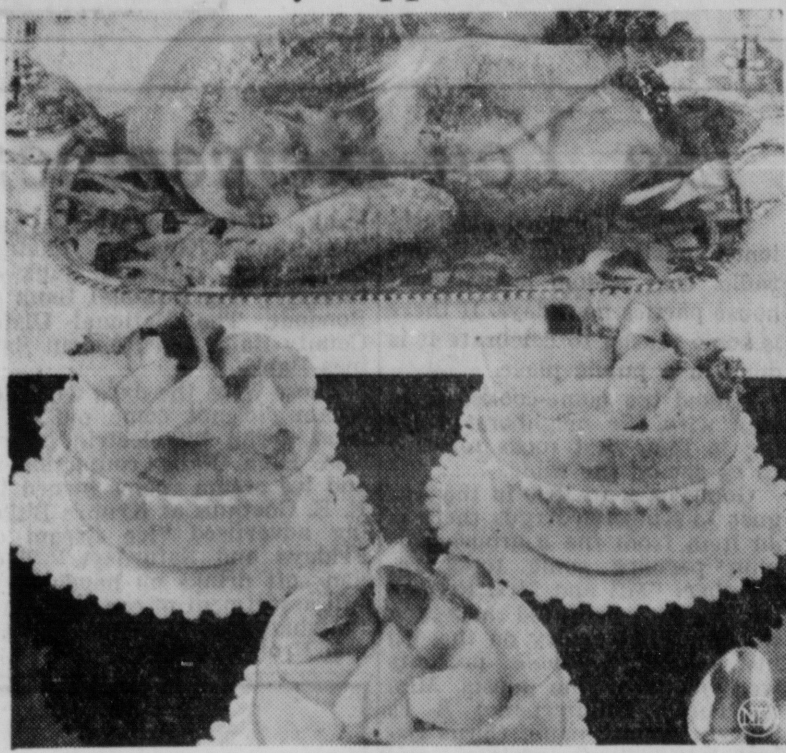

Due on Sullivan Show
Sunday evening, for example, he will appear on the Ed Sullivan Show (CBS-TV, 8 p. m.). Last Sunday he appeared on the Steve Allen Show (NBC-TV, 8 p. m.). He's been a frequent Como guest and has — and will — appear on many another variety program.
Bennett takes a long and philosophical look at the problems of singers on TV.

Can Die in a Season
He points out that under the great exposure a performer has on television, the casualty rates are very high. Even comedians, who usually undergo a longer training period than singers, often die in a season.
Well, what about Como? He, among others, has beaten the casualty toll.

Leaves It to Guests
"Como knows the secret of being a nice house guest," Bennett said. "He gets over the problem by underplaying every week. He doesn't want to stop the show. He likes a guest to stop the show. Underplaying is the hardest thing there is to do, but he does it. I think he succeeds because he's not a selfish man. That comes through. That's why his program is a great family show."
Nat King Cole is even more relaxed than Como, Bennett says. The Ed Sullivan show he calls the perfection of the vaudeville technique.
The Steve Allen show he thinks remarkable because Allen and his staff are great experimenters.
So it goes. Maybe some day he'll be analyzing a Tony Bennett show.

Ever add bits of crisp bacon to a salad of romaine and fresh orange sections?

AMERICAN MENU Light Fruit Salad Sparks Those Holiday Appetites

GRAPEFRUIT, oranges and avocados combine for a simple and tempting salad as prelude to that hearty turkey-day dinner.

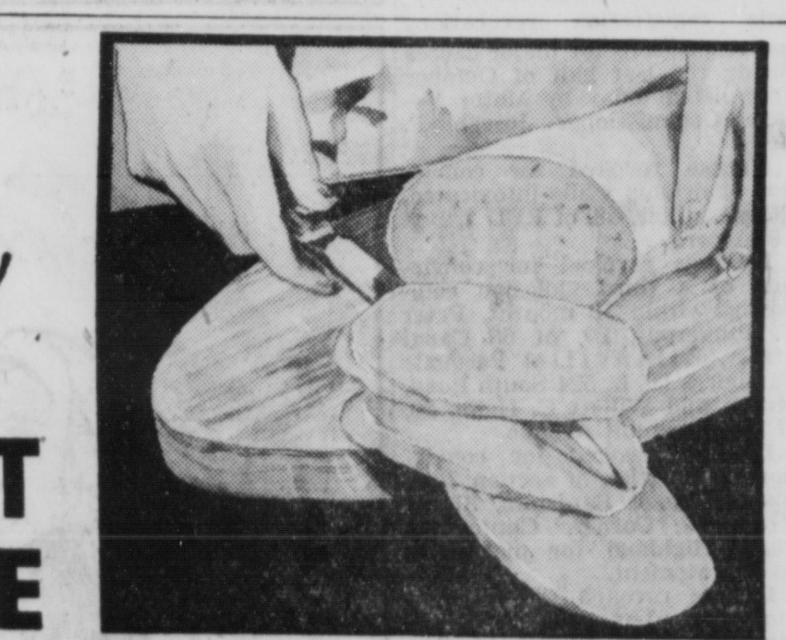

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Florida appetizer salads add zest to the all-America Thanksgiving feast. Combining grapefruit, oranges and avocados from that fruitful state, Florida housewives produce appetite-awakening salads to serve before the lordly turkey makes its entrance.
They have a trick, too, for getting neat sections from the grapefruit shell with all juice intact. Cut the grapefruit in half; then cut around each section. That means freeing the little triangular-shaped grapefruit outlined by membrane. Start cutting at the core of the fruit and follow a triangular path within the membrane. Then each section of fruit can be lifted out neatly with a spoon. Because you are going to use the shell for the appetizer-salad service, remove the core and dividing membrane with scissors.

Citrus Appetizer Salad (6 servings)
Three grapefruit, chilled; 4 oranges, sectioned; salad greens, 2 avocados.
Cut grapefruit in half. Cut around each section, loosening fruit from membrane. Remove sections. Cut out core, dividing membrane. Combine grapefruit and orange sections. Cut avocados in half lengthwise; remove pit. Peel skin from halves; dice avocado. Dip in citrus juice to prevent discoloration. Spoon diced avocado on top of each salad. Serve with French dressing made of lemon juice, oil, salt and pepper.

Add to Tomato Juice
Add some basil leaves from your garden, and some celery tops, to tomato juice and refrigerate over night. Remove basil and celery and serve very cold.

MRS. ALAN JAY GOLDMAN

Phyllis Ruth Weiner Weds Alan J. Goldman In Double Ring Ceremony on November 3

Miss Phyllis Ruth Weiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Weiner of 106 West Chester Street, became the bride of Alan Jay Goldman, son of Mrs. Ben Goldman of Riverdale and the late Mr. Goldman, Sunday, Nov. 3, at 2 p. m. in the Terrace Room of Grossinger's Hotel, Grossinger.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rabbi H. Z. Rapoport of Congregation Agudas Achim. He was assisted by Cantor Michael Klein.

Mrs. Rose Hirsch of New York sang "Through the Years."

The bride was escorted to a canopy of pink gladioli, roses and ferns by her parents. For her wedding she wore a bluish pink gown of tulle and tulle, styled with a basque bodice gown with ante-bellum scoop neckline and cap sleeves, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt which ended in a chapel length train. The skirt was also applied with princess lace and tiny seed pearls.

The bride's headpiece in half halo effect of bluish pink held a silk illusion veil in elbow length. The bride carried pink threaded gladioli with pink rose buds and ivy vines.

Mrs. Paul Prusky of New York served as the matron of honor. She wore a blue silk organza bouffant shortwaisted gown in ballet length. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses and ivy leaves.

Maid of honor was Miss Paula H. Weiner, cousin of the bride. She wore a blue silk satin princess gown in ballet length. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses and ivy leaves.

The reception was held at the Grossinger Hotel for approximately 150 guests.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass. Her husband was graduated from Horace Mann School and attended Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania. He was graduated from New York University and is a member of Tau Delta Phi Fraternity. He is now serving with the armed forces.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a gray flannel dress with brown suede trimming and matching hat, brown accessories, brown Matara Seal coat and a corsage of white orchids.

Treble Choraliers To Give Concert

The Treble Choraliers will give a concert at the Rosendale Reformed Church Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 8:15 p. m.

The group of 60 women are enjoying their seventh successful session under the able direction of Roland Heermance of Saugerties. Heermance is well known throughout the Hudson Valley. In addition to the Treble Choraliers, he conducts the Catskill Glee Club, The Lyric Choristers of Kingston, Pine Plains Choral Club and the Catskill Mountain Summer Chorus.

The Choraliers have gained steadily both in members and following in their six years. They began with one or two road concerts, closing the season with one home concert in Catskill in May when they sponsored a guest artist from the National Music League Association in New York. The audience that came to hear the group of ladies grew so large that the spacious Dutch Reformed Church of Catskill would not adequately hold them. It was, therefore, decided to present two home concerts in May, one on the east side of the Hudson and the following night in Catskill, whereby patrons and sponsors for Greene, Ulster and Columbia Counties would have more room to comfortably enjoy the concerts and an excellent guest artist. Two artists were secured, one for Hudson and one for Catskill.

For two years the Choraliers have given a Christmas Concert in Hudson where a group of inspiring Christmas carols and songs were presented to a large and enthusiastic audience. This year the Choraliers will present a Catskill Christmas Concert also.

The Choraliers are a real working group with the officers headed this year by Mrs. Mark Euler of Athens, president. A board of directors, with the help and cooperation of Heermance and accompanist, Mildred Ruppel, guides the activities of the group.

Activities for the year begin with a kick-off banquet when a guest speaker is procured and an evening's entertainment is enjoyed by members and potential members.

Following the Home Concert in May, a traditional June picnic is held each year. A real picnic dinner is enjoyed by members and their families.

The Choraliers went to Rosendale following a successful concert at New Baltimore on October 22 where they were invited to sing at the Reformed Church for the third season, and an equally well received concert at Great Barrington, Mass., on November 12.

Among the numbers on the program for the Rosendale Concert the Choraliers will sing: "Visions, God of the Open Air," "This Is My Country," arranged by Ringwald, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain and There Are Such Things."

No admission will be charged for this concert, but a free-will offering will be taken.

SEEING A GIRL HOME

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a bachelor and am often invited to dinner at the houses of my married friends. Again, the other evening I was asked to dine with friends and when I arrived there was a young woman (an unmarried friend of the hostess) also present. After dinner we played cards and we left about eleven o'clock. I walked the young woman to the bus and waited until she got on it, and then left to go home. Several days later when talking with my friend on the telephone, he said he was surprised to hear that I had not taken Mary home. He said had he known I wasn't going to take her home he would have done so. Needless to say he made me feel like a "heel." I would like to know from you, Mrs. Post, if I was wrong not to see her home. Had she been my guest I would have taken her home but as I met her at the house of friends I thought taking her to the bus was sufficient.

Answer: You and your hostess should have had a definite understanding about whether or not you were going to take the young woman home. Actually I am surprised she did not ask you, "Will you take Miss Smith home?" She lives on Tenth Street.

The Bridegroom's Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon at a double ring ceremony and I would like to know who is supposed to hold the bridegroom's ring. Should the maid of honor hold it, or does the best man take care of both rings?

Answer: Usually the bride wears the bridegroom's ring over her gloved little finger, from where she can most easily produce it.

House Signs

Dear Mrs. Post: I live in a small town where there are no street numbers on the houses. I should like to have a lawn marker with my name on it but I'm in doubt as to how my name should appear. I am a widow. Does one use a title on a lawn marker? It doesn't seem right to me. Will you please advise me?

Answer: Your last name, preceded by an initial if there are others living near you will be correct. You should have the sign as short as possible so that it can be read from a moving automobile.

Should the wife sit in the front seat of the car when friends are invited for a drive? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public," includes the answer to this question. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. GEORGE DE WITT

EMCEE FOR AHAVATH ISRAEL BALL—One of television's most promising stars, George De Witt, who emcees the popular Tuesday night quiz show "Name That Tune," over CBS television, has been signed to headline the annual Thanksgiving Eve ball of Congregation Ahavath Israel Wednesday, Nov. 27, at municipal auditorium.

CBS Video Star Is Top Impressionist

Despite the rigors of weekly commuting between his home in Miami Beach, Fla., and the CBS Television studios in New York City, George DeWitt, popular master of ceremonies of "Name That Tune," seen every Tuesday night, manages to make personal appearances at various times during his busy career.

One of these engagements will be here in Kingston Wednesday night, Nov. 27, for the annual Congregation Ahavath Israel Thanksgiving Eve ball at municipal auditorium.

The popular television star, who also has appeared on the Steve Allen and Ed Sullivan shows, was personally signed to a contract this week when Herman G. Rafalowsky, honorary chairman of this year's ball, visited the Music Corporation of America offices in New York City.

General Chairman of this year's fall event is Benjamin Schechter, who also is assisting with planning the entertainment portion of the program.

The signing of George DeWitt gives this year's holiday eve attraction a solid one-two punch—a tried and proved master of ceremonies, which role Mr. DeWitt will handle—and an outstanding band for dancing—supplied by Xavier Cugat and his world famous orchestra of rumba kings.

Other star-studded acts will be announced shortly.

One of Mr. DeWitt's biggest boosters came in the form of editorial comment written by Harriet Van Horne of The New York World Telegram and Sun who wrote of his outstanding talent:

"As a mimic, Mr. DeWitt is a true artist. He knows precisely what qualities set a performer apart, and it is these qualities he mimics, exaggerating to just the right degree."

"Nobody ever did a better imitation of Perry Como. And his Liberace, a version of which he performed for us one night on the Steve Allen show, is the first to capture the essence of this marcelled virtuoso. DeWitt, like Daumier, has the gift of selection. He instinctively selects the right qualities to satirize."

Besides his vast TV appearances, Mr. DeWitt has appeared throughout the country in some of the most fashionable clubs and hotels including the Latin Casino, Philadelphia; Town Casino, Buffalo; Nautilus Hotel, Miami Beach; Baker Hotel, Dallas and the Club Charles, Baltimore, in addition to many others.

In addition to his hilarious comedy, which includes satires on many of our domestic difficulties as well as impressions of famous personages, George also has made several successful recordings including "Riders in the Sky" and "All Right, Looie, Drop the Gun."

Reserve seat tickets again are available for this year's ball and may be obtained by contacting either Murray Greene or Larry Jacobs.

Golden Age Club
Golden Age Club will meet at the YWCA Monday, 7:30 p. m. An evening commemorating Thanksgiving has been planned. Color pictures will be on display through the courtesy of Miss Josephine Schrub of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Refreshments will be served.

High School Pen-Pals Meet After 23 Years Of Correspondence in Brussels, Belgium

When Mrs. Malcolm Land, the former Mabel Crystal, received a slip of paper bearing the name of a French speaking pen-pal, little did she think that the correspondence would last 23 years.

The beginning of this long friendship started in Mrs. Land's French class at Kingston High School. Her teacher, Agatha Flick, who is now known to area residents as Mrs. John I. Snyder, had arranged for her students to correspond with students abroad. Mrs. Land drew the name of Flore Tambour, Brussels, Belgium.

Lead Similar Lives

Letter writing revealed that both led rather similar lives throughout the years. Both had lived on a farm. Mrs. Land studied at college in order to become a teacher and her pen-pal, now Mrs. Joseph Mauquit, tutored children privately.

Another amazing fact which their letters brought out was that they both had married mechanical engineers.

When Mr. Land had to make a business trip to Europe, they decided to stop at Brussels in order to meet Mrs. Mauquit personally.

"It was as though we had met many times before," Mrs. Land told The Freeman. "It was the culmination of a dream which became reality after years of letter writing."

Mrs. Land is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Crystal of Kingston. She now resides with her husband and two children in Allentown, Pa.

Catskill Beauty Topic for Dutch Men Wednesday

Beauty of the Catskill Mountains and other areas was presented to the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church Wednesday night by Mr. and Mrs. Edward West of Shandaken in the form of colored slides.

Seventy members of the club and guests were present at the regular monthly meeting of the organization in the church hall.

The program, of an inspirational nature, consisted of slides and comments by West who for the past 33 years has been an employee of the New York State Conservation Department. Appropriate music at piano and by record accompanied the showing of the slides.

Beauty in Everything

When the Wests began taking pictures some years ago they found "beauty in everything" in God's creation. Their subject last night was "God Created."

Four charter members and five past presidents were present. Charter members—Harry duBois Frey, Harry Anderson, Harry Edson and Ward Ingalsbe. Past presidents—James Little, Minford Overfield, Charles Rinschler, Fred Van Deusen and Herbert DeKay.

Anderson spoke briefly, reminiscing about earlier history of the Men's Club. He recalled that on one occasion the men pitched in and cooked ham and eggs for more than 100 members and guests. "We exhausted the poultry supply in the whole of Ulster County," he said.

On another occasion they had a menu consisting of home-made sausage and old-fashioned buckwheat cakes prepared by a committee of members.

He said the club "dwindled" at one time and almost died out until the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool "came along and gave us a jigger." Alexander Yosman, president of the club, presided. The speaker was introduced by Fred Supplies, vice-president.

Ladies of the church prepared and served a roast beef dinner. Assisting in the service were members of Girl Scout Troop 76 sponsored by the Old Dutch Church.

For evening or late-day wear, try placing a brilliant pin at the back of a satin dress near the waistline. It's an attention getter.

Coach House Players Present Comedy at George Washington

Chuckles built to explosive laughter as last night's almost capacity audience evidenced their enjoyment of the galaxy of stars in "The Vinegar Tree" presented by Coach House Players at the George Washington School.

Terry Roberts, as Laura Merrick, was the merriest of Mrs. Malaprops in her shallow uncertainty as to the studio sins of her carise yesterday. "Better than Mary Boland," was the between-act comments.

Houston Richards, the tantalizingly testy Augustus Merrick, handled the homespun humor of Paul Osborn as only a versatile veteran actor-director can. He was consistently deft and at all times possessed of magnificent professional poise.

Lithe Elizabeth Askue, recent Canadian import, reflected her previous theatre and TV experience as Winifred, much-married sister of the hilarious heroine.

Robert Curtin, another newcomer to Coach House Players, was a natural Max Lawrence, the artist, as he emerged from exhilarating entanglements with no less than three innamoratas with the aptness of experience.

The wonderfully casual underplaying of the two adolescents, Leone and Geoffrey, by Barbara and Dixon McGrath aroused the amused affection and agony of the audience.

George Betts, as Louis although virtually lines-less, had the house in stitches with his better brand of "butting."

Sally Gallagher's rural back drop was replete with realism, and contributed much to the slickness of the show. Ralph Harper, former president of Coach House Players, deserves accolades for the perfection of production.

Under the direction of Mr. Richards, "The Vinegar Tree," a smash last night, if curtain calls are an indication, will be presented again at George Washington School with curtain at 8:30 tonight.

Says Money Alone Won't Give U.S. Scientific Edge

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — The federal government "cannot decrease the study of science," Henry T. Heald, president of the Ford Foundation, said today.

"Perhaps it should not bribe people to do so," he said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Council of Chief State School Officers.

Speaking 12 hours after President Eisenhower told the nation America must produce more scientists to keep pace with Soviet Russia's scientific advances, Heald said there is much discussion about the American lag in science and technology and "there will be scores of proposals, some good, some bad, to do something about it."

"Scientists cannot be made overnight with any amount of money," he said. "They must be produced by the American school system. Curriculum decisions are made at the local level."

"A greater recognition of the importance of mathematics and science in the high schools will result in revision of requirements and procedures. This can be influenced by state superintendents."

Heald said money alone "will help little if it is poured into an inefficient system. We must work on the problems of better utilization of faculty, reorganization and improvement of curricula, better use of the physical plant, and efficient and productive use of new teaching aids, such as television."

Would Affect Solidarity

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today the French government will consider any American or British delivery of arms to Tunisia contrary to Atlantic solidarity.

Pineau told the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee that Britain and the United States "are about to effect delivery of arms to Tunisia."

He said France "regretted this Anglo-American initiative."

Chicagoan Will Be Deported to Native Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — A German-born Chicagoan convicted of treason during World War II left a federal prison today for deportation to his native land. He can never return to the United States as a free man.

Immigration agents arranged to take Hans Max Haupt, 63, from the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn., where he has been imprisoned for the past 13 years. About five hours later, Haupt will leave New York on a nonstop flight to Frankfurt, Germany.

Haupt was convicted of treason in 1944 for harboring his son, Herbert, a Nazi saboteur executed in 1942 after trial before a military commission here.

Atty. Gen. Rogers announced yesterday that President Eisenhower had commuted Haupt's life sentence to the time he already has served. Rogers said this was done only to send Haupt back to Germany. Haupt was naturalized in 1930, but he lost his citizenship when convicted of treason.

Brazil Is Topic At Rotary Club

Sansao Jose Laureiro of Curitiba, State of Parana, Brazil spoke about his native country to the members of the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday at the weekly luncheon-meeting.

The United States of Brazil, he said, in outlining the history of the country, has a Constitution modeled largely on that of the United States of America. The area is greater than continental United States and the country is rapidly becoming industrialized. The chief industries are agriculture and mining and the leading products and exports are coffee, cocoa, cattle, cotton and sugar.

Mr. Laureiro, an attorney, is attending New York University, where he is studying international law under a Rotary Foundation Fellowship. The Foundation enables an outstanding graduate student to study for one year in a country other than his own.

The speaker was presented by Program Chairman Larry Bogert and President William E. Rylance delivered a message to the president of the Curitiba Rotary Club. Congratulatory remarks were extended by International Committee Chairman Adrian Kaplan. During the luncheon, Brazilian dinner music was played. The entire program was recorded by Rotarian William O'Reilly and will be sent to the Curitiba Club.

Stein's Clothes Celebrating 33rd Date With Sale

Stein's, one of the largest men's clothing retailers in America, is celebrating its 33rd birthday with a special sale, it was announced today.

Stein's was started in 1925 and today numbers 83 stores in 76 cities across the nation. A spokesman for the chain said today that unlike most national organizations Stein's, under the supervision of the local manager, August Cohen, at 296 Wall Street, is regarded as "home-owned" and that its success stems from its policy of serving local needs, plus bringing the benefits of a national company can achieve in terms of greater values and greater savings through large-scale economies.

Stein's policy is also described as "factory priced" with its own factories manufacturing the suits that are sold in the company's stores. A limited period has been set for the birthday celebration and the company expresses the hope that its customers of long standing will give themselves a "present" in terms of savings to mark this event which the company views as the starting point of another year of service to the men of Kingston.

New Global Bomber Now in SAC Service

SEATTLE (AP) — The Boeing Airplane Co. and the Air Force announced jointly today the B52E, a new model of the eight-jet global bomber, has gone into service with the Strategic Air Command.

The improved model is the fifth since Boeing began production of the 200-ton B52s. Major advances in the B52E are increased navigational accuracy, more reliable electronics systems, greater crew comfort and relocation of some equipment.

The external appearance, speed, range and altitude remain unchanged from earlier models. The B52s can fly more than 6,000 miles without refueling at speeds up to 650 miles an hour and altitudes of more than 50,000 feet.

The new model will be manufactured at both the company's Seattle and Wichita, Kan., plants.

P-TA Group Will Hold Discussion On Scholarships

SAUGERTIES — At the November meeting of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association, scholarships both direct and indirect, will be described. The meeting is to be held in the auditorium of the Main Street School, Saugerties at 8 p. m., Wednesday, Nov. 20.

The direct forms of scholarship will be discussed by a committee consisting of Miss N. Leona Hogan, senior class advisor, Miss A. Frances Larned, director of guidance, and Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools.

Miss Hogan will explain what New York State Regents Scholarships are available, and will describe the special scholarship classes held in Saugerties High School. Scholarships which are awarded by local organizations, industrial concerns, advanced educational institutions, and national groups will be enumerated by Miss Larned. Dr. Morse will discuss how one should prepare for earning scholarships.

Following the discussion of direct scholarships, Harry Rigby Jr. of Kingston will discuss the proposed community college for Ulster County. Rigby has been the chairman of a committee which has done considerable research work concerning community colleges in general and the needs of Ulster County in particular.

This committee has made recommendations to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors concerning a proposed community college for Ulster County. Rigby will explain how a community college can be established, how it is operated, possible advantages, and the needs of this locality. A question and answer period will follow his remarks.

This meeting is for parents and teachers of all age groups, not just high school pupils, since a child begins to earn a scholarship at a very early age. All parents, teachers and interested adults are urged to attend the meeting.

Ample Warning

Sputniks Prodded Administration on Budget Spending

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's administration—judging from his two nationwide talks—was caught napping by the Russians.

Either that, or it needed two Sputniks to get it moving.

For weeks his administration had been working on the budget—the cost of running the country—which he will present to Congress in January.

There had been no talk of increased spending for defense or of a rush in missile and satellite development.

Then the Russians fired their Sputniks, ample testimony to the amazing progress they have made in satellites, in rockets to propel them, and in the industrial ability to produce them.

Eisenhower took to the air a week ago to reassure the country it was in no immediate danger.

But as evidence of his realization of the need for speed, he appointed a special assistant to push scientific, satellite and missile development.

And in his nationwide talk last night he called for heavier spending on defense. How much? He didn't say. Will taxes have to go up in 1958? He didn't say. One thing seems sure: They won't be coming down.

He talked of the need—as at least part of the means for meeting increased defense costs—for cutting down on the spending on domestic programs.

If he was vague on costs, it's understandable. His administration presumably was at work on a pre-Sputnik kind of budget but now, after the Sputniks, is in a scramble to revise its thinking.

Between now and the time the budget finally is unveiled before Congress, this country may be treated to a campaign of conditioning to get it ready for the spending ahead.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks said yesterday: "The emphasis now is on less butter and more guns."

Eisenhower and his administration weren't putting the emphasis on less butter and more guns before the Sputniks.

Harried Mont Pleasant Real Threat to Maroon

Luckless is the best way to describe Mont Pleasant High's football team, which hosts Kingston Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the Schenectady Stadium.

The once-mighty Red Raiders have suffered nothing but bad breaks this season and are in the unaccustomed position of being without a victory. They have dropped five games and have two chances left to crack the win column.

In three of the starts the up-staters have lost by a total of just nine points. They were thoroughly outclassed in the other losing efforts.

Perennially strong Freeport, Long Island High pinned them with an opening 19-0 defeat. Then came two successive heartbreaking defeats by undefeated Albany High, 14-12, and Rome Free Academy, 14-13.

Missed PATs

Extra points, of course, made the difference in the latter two games. The Rome squeaker was especially hard to swallow since the Raiders hopped off to a 13-0 lead and after being overtaken, drove back and were camped on the Roman's 2 when the final whistle blew.

White Plains poured it on, 43-13, in MP's next-to-last outing so far. Even in this one the Schenectady eleven had a fighting chance, holding the powerful Westchester Countrymen to a halftime tie.

Last Saturday Mont Pleasant lost to cross-city rival Nott Terrace, 13-7. Midway through the game the Redmen lost the services of their No. 1 offensive weapon, fleet halfback Ed Ferraro, who had to be helped from the field with an injured ankle.

Ferraro, although bothered by a chronic sore ankle, has hit pay-dirt in everyone of the games excluding, of course, the Freeport shutout. He has four TDs to his credit and looms as the player KHS must stop. One of his payoff runs was for 68 yards against Rome.

Action in Airlines

Mont Pleasant is expected to unfurl an aerial attack to augment the running of Ferraro and full-back Mike Sutherland. Quarterback Tom Tama will do the throwing with his chief target being end Dave Fazzone. This combination has clicked for two scoring TDs.

The Maroon must be on guard for anything. Pleasant is still smarting from last year's 14-7 upset which snapped a 15-game winning streak. This time the shoe is on the other foot as the locals will be under heavy pressure to keep alive their glittering 14-game string.

Saturday's game, which begins at 1:30, was originally scheduled to be played under the lights Oct. 18 but MP was hit hard by the flu and asked for a postponement. Kingston's squad was struck a couple of weeks later but now is at full strength for the test.

Citizens Set 51,787 Reasons Why Bums Should Drop Dead

James Stands Pat For Second Week

ITHACA (AP)—Lefty James, Cornell football coach, plans to feed Dartmouth the same recipe that gave Brown a 13-6 case of indigestion last week.

For the first time this season, James is repeating a lineup on two successive weekends. His backfield again will feature Tom Skyepeck calling signals. Bob McAniff and John Webster at the half-back spots, and Phil Taylor at full-back.

Tackle Dave Dunlop was sidelined at practice yesterday by an ankle injury and halfback Irvin (Bo) Robertson by a leg bruise.

A total of 417 owners shared in the distribution of purses during the 1957 Monmouth Park thoroughbred meeting.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The deadline for dropping flies in the Los Angeles Dodgers' baseball ointment is today—and citizens protesting the Chavez Ravine real estate deal say they are set to unload a whopper.

A group called the Committee To Save Chavez Ravine For The People says it has collected at least 51,787 reasons why the Dodgers may not be playing in the foreseeable future in Walter O'Malley's proposed dream stadium at the ravine.

The committee said that before the 5 p. m. deadline a petition with more than 51,787 signatures will be filed with the City Election Commission. That many signatures are required to force a public election on the city's Chavez Ravine deal.

The petition, is valid, could force a special election within three months, or the referendum could go on the next regular election ballot in June.

In either case, Dodger President O'Malley's plans to begin construction on a 50,000-seat stadium on the 300-acre site of the club by the city would be sidetracked, perhaps completely derailed.

The "citizens' committee" was organized after the City Council by a 10-4 vote, transferred the Chavez Ravine property to the Dodgers in exchange for the 22,500-seat Wrigley Field and other considerations.

2nd Half Rout

Angels Rip Back Five

Andy Juhl led with 20 points, as Harry's Angels pulverized Back's 81-33, for their sixth victory in eight YMCA "A" League contests.

A strong second half outscored Back's 49-17 and enabled the Angels to register one of the most lopsided victories of the season.

Juhl potted seven fields and six free throws to edge his teammate, Lloyd Tice, by one mark. Lafayette Holstein and Bud O'Dea contributed 14 apiece to the winning effort. Fred Orr led Back's with 12.

Orange Banks On Lucky Number

SYRACUSE (AP)—Syracuse University is hoping number 44 will add up to defeat for Colgate again this year.

Last year's number 44 on the Orange football squad was All-America Jim Brown, who piled up 43 points in a 61-7 defeat of Colgate.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder again has his eye on the 44 jersey, worn this year by Tom Stephens of Mohawk. The 190-pound junior leads the scoring this season with seven touchdowns and should present a major threat to the Red Raiders in Saturday's traditional contest.

Gov. Harriman will witness the Upstate classic for the fourth straight year, his office announced yesterday.

Machen Stops Jackson By TKO in 10th Round

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A title fight, low blows and possibilities of retirement formed boxing topics today after undefeated heavyweight Eddie Machen slammed and battered Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson into surrender.

The 195-pound Machen, a 25-year-old battler from Redding, Calif., wants the championship bout with Floyd Patterson. He has an added talking point, since his televised fight with Jackson last night goes into the record as a tenth round TKO, the same as Patterson scored over the Hurricane July 29.

Jackson and Manager Lippe Briedbart declared Eddie hit several low blows in taking the 24th straight victory. Machen said he didn't hit below the belt knowingly. Referee Frankie Carter didn't assess any penalties for low punches.

With Jackson's right eye puffed closed at the end of the tenth, Briedbart called Carter over to view the damage and Frankie stopped it. The fight was scheduled for 12 rounds.

Briedbart's Move
"I recommended that the fight be stopped," said Briedbart. Asked if he would have Jackson retire after the two consecutive batterings by Patterson and Machen, Lippe replied:

"He'll have to take a long rest. Retirement is up to him."

The Hurricane, from St. Albans, N. Y., who weighed his heaviest at 201 for this one had little to say. Asked what he thought Machen could do against Patterson, he said only, "It'd be a good fight. Who'd win? I dunno."

Jackson went down for a five count in the first round when he took a left and a right to the head. But from then on he remained upright, although staggered repeatedly and wincing visibly under Machen's body attack.

Three Times Before

In his July 29 fight against Patterson, the Hurricane was knocked down three times before Referee Ruby Goldstein called a halt after 1:52 of the 10th.

Despite that beating, Jackson's appearance here drew 14,107 fans to the Cow Palace. They paid a gross of $56,877.50. The nationwide television was blacked out here.

Sid Flaherty, who manages Machen, said, "our next move is up to Patterson, if he wants to fight us.... If not, maybe we'll go to Europe for some bouts."

Cus D'Amato, the champ's manager, long has frowned on Machen as a challenger, claiming a title fight was once offered the Californian's camp and turned down. Flaherty denies any official offer was made.

Hofstra College of Hempstead, N. Y., held its opponents scoreless in its first three football games this season.

Deer Contest Planned for Katrine Club

Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club has announced a deer contest for its members, starting with the opening of the season next Monday (Nov. 18) and continuing through the season. A cash award will be made to the member bagging a buck deer with the most points.

All deer must be checked at the Peter Lemister store on Albany Avenue and Lemister has been designated sole judge of the contest.

The club also voted to sponsor a kiddie Christmas party at the clubhouse Saturday, Dec. 21, at 7 p. m. All members were urged to bring a child to the party. Music and games are planned and each child will receive a gift from Santa. Peter Lemister Jr. is in charge of arrangements.

PGA Hints Medal Play

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Delegates to the National Convention of the Professional Golfers' Assn. of America today were expected to approve a move to change the PGA match play championship to a 72-hole medal play competition.

While no officials would comment directly, the change to medal play might well conflict in public interest with the United States Golf Assn. open, which over the years has been dominated by the professionals but which is open to amateurs.

A PGA National Open would be restricted to professionals and under that title could well draw censure from the USGA, of which the PGA membership in convention here seems well aware. Gate receipts from the USGA Open far outshadow anything the PGA Match Play Tourney gets year in, year out.

Streaks at Stake Weather Is Big Factor In ND-Oklahoma Game

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The No. 2 ranked Oklahoma Sooners put a number of records on the line when they meet Notre Dame in a nationally-televised battle here Saturday—and one of them may be broken at the outset of the inter-sectional battle.

Coach Bud Wilkinson is rumored to have controlled the weather almost as well as he has the scores of Oklahoma's home games.

During his 10-year tenure as head coach the Sooners have never played a home game in the rain. And that's one record which may be snapped this weekend. Rain has fallen in the area the past three days and more showers are forecast through Friday.

Coach Bud Wilkinson would like to see his Sooners react to rain the same way a previous squad reacted to snow. In 1951 Oklahoma defeated Colorado 55-14 in the snow.

However, the coach is quick to admit that rain and mud hamper his team's fast-break offense, which is based largely on speed.

Wet Field Hurt

After the Kansas State game Nov. 2, Wilkinson pointed out, the field was slippery, and he indicated this may have been a factor in comparatively low score.

Oklahoma won the game 13-0 and has since thrashed the Missouri Tigers 39-14 to run its victory string to 47 straight games—

The Springfield Indians are bidding to escape the cellar in the American Hockey League.

They shut out the Buffalo Bisons 4-0 last night and, in one jump, moved into a triple tie for fourth place with Buffalo and Cleveland. Each team has 11 points, three behind third place Rochester. Hershey and Providence are first and second with 24 and 15, respectively.

Goalie Al Millar made 28 saves as the Indians turned in their first shut out of the season.

It was the only league game scheduled.

Houghtaling's 699 New Mark in Bowlero Major

Big Jack Houghtaling set a new high triple record of 699 in the Bowlero Major last night, missing the coveted "700" when his last ball failed to come up and left three pins standing. His games were 243, 254 and 202 and his 699 eclipsed the former mark of 683 held by Frank Grimaldi.

Byrne Chevrolet cracked their own team single record with 1065 and edged Tony's Pizzeria despite a 660 by Bob Shelighner, Clifton Quick's 604 and Bill Lawrence's 602. Jerry Oster paced the winners with 601.

Phil Battaglia hit 600 on the nose for Leon Wilber and Son.

The 1956-57 Kingston High School football players have solidly enshrined and immortalized themselves in the Maroon record books, but the saga of misery against Mont Pleasant over the years should be sufficient inducement for Coach Bill Burke's warriors to grind out an impressive victory against the Red Raiders come Saturday at Schenectady.

The 1957 gridders are part of a Kingston High dynasty that has already stacked 14 victories in succession, three better than any previous combination of KHS teams, if you want to start from 1915.

It's a mathematical co-incidence that prior to the heroes achieved by the 1956-57 Maroon combine, the best Kingston winning streak was 11 straight (1915-19) and then three seasons of seven in a row in 1933-34, 1947-48 and 1950.

The fabulous 1915 aggregation, Kingston's only perfect-season team until the 1956 squad, won 10 straight while scoring 279 points and limiting the opposition to a meagre 25. The war years halted football until 1919 when Kingston defeated Poughkeepsie, 6-0, in the seasonal opener, then dropped a 25-0 decision to Port Jervis.

Spoiled the 1933 Season:

Coach G. Warren Kias' first DUSO League championship team in 1933 won its last five games and missed a perfect season by the margin of a highly disputed 6-0 setback at Mont Pleasant. Kingston whipped Monticello, 7-0, and Peekskill 13-0 in the first two 1934 games before Mont Pleasant again spoiled the picture with another 6-0 triumph.

Bill Burke's 1947 combine which experienced a zany season of 2 wins, one loss and 4 ties captured the Turkey Day finale from Newburgh, 12-6, and polished off six straight opponents in the brilliant 1947 campaign before Port Jervis pulled off a 13-6 shocker at Dietz Stadium. This stands as one of the most monumental reversals of form in KHS history. Kingston had whipped this same Port Jervis team, 27-0, on what Ralph Frederick so nostalgically refers to as "The Banks of the Neversink." The 1957 personnel might remember this when they tee off against Mont Pleasant Saturday.

When Little David Rebelled:

The other seven-time winner was the 1950 aggregation which bounced back from a scoreless deadlock with the Little Davids of Highland to whip seven straight opponents with a scoring consistency unequalled by any other Burke-coached squad. The Maroons scored 20 points in four of the games, 21 in another and 28 in the seventh. They defeated Newburgh Academy on extra points, 20-18. Burke's teams were rolling in these days as they are today and in the 1948-49-50 seasons won 21 and lost only 3.

Kingston lost five straight games to Mont Pleasant before managing a 6-6 deadlock in 1951. The Red Raiders, once the scourge of the capital district, handed Coach Kias' 1933 DUSO champions their only defeat, 6-0. This was a tempestuous contest in which two Maroon touchdowns were nullified by highly debatable officials' decisions. They repeated 6-0 in 1934, returned to the KHS schedule for 18-6 and 33-0 wins in 1941-42 and repeated, 27-13, in 1951.

The Night Armstrong Rolled:

The Raiders whopped Kingston, 41-0, in 1955. 1956 was another story and in one of the greatest high school football games ever played in Kingston, Hobie Armstrong and company shattered a 15-game winning streak of the Dorpians, 14-7. Two electrifying runs by Armstrong made this an unforgettable day in KHS football history.

Toothless and winless Mont Pleasant of 1957 appears to be a pushover for the unbeaten Maroons, but the record book points an admonishing finger against overconfidence. There are too many glories at stake for Kingston to miff this one and/or the Thanksgiving Day finale against Newburgh. We have a hunch they won't.

Just Throw It, Says Ace Passer

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — "All I've done is throw the ball," says modest Tom Greene, ace Holy Cross passer who leads major college football in total offense.

The 19-year-old junior from Pikesville, Md., gave credit for his achievement to his teammates. "My receivers, especially ends Dick Bernardino, Dave Stecchi and Charlie Pecunas, have made great catches," Greene said, "and my blockers have kept opponents from charging me."

Greene completed 15 out of 27 passes for 278 yards in last Saturday's 20-19 upset of Syracuse by the Crusaders. His performance raised his total yardage to 1,150 in seven games and put him ahead in total offense.

His nearest competitor, Bob Stransky of Colorado, has amassed 1,055 in eight contests.

Against Syracuse, Greene scored two touchdowns, converted two of three extra-point tries, punted and kicked in a versatile display of one-man football.

Utah's Vaughan Leads Receivers

By The Associated Press

Stubby Stuart Vaughan is the smallest man on Utah's football team but a big man in pass receptions, with 41, in major college statistics released in New York today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The 5-8 senior halfback has caught a half dozen more than anyone else, averaging better than five a game, and is within reach of the top total in five years. Vaughan also could become the fourth major college player ever to latch on to 50 passes in a single season by maintaining his average against Utah's last two opponents, Air Force and Utah State.

Other statistics leaders this week are SMU's Dave Sherer in punting, Oregon State's Sterling Hammark in punt returns, Utah State's Overton Curtis in kickoff returns and Army's Bob Anderson in scoring.

Warriors Sign Ex-Stanford Ace

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jim Walsh, former Stanford and U. S. Olympic basketball star, has agreed to sign with the Philadelphia Warriors and may be here in time to play against Syracuse tonight.

Eddie Gottlieb, owner of the National Basketball Assn. team, announced yesterday that Walsh had come to terms by telephone and intended to fly from San Francisco with little delay. Should Walsh not make it for tonight's game, he definitely will be on hand for the Warriors' game in Boston Saturday, Gottlieb said.

Syracuse was unbeaten in 10 straight regular season football games until it bowed to Penn State last Oct. 26.

Asian Flu Bug Poses Threat To Football Giants Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Asian flu does strange things. It had the world champion New York Giants talking "trouble" today as they prepared for their Sunday National Football League game with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The flu has been bothering the Giants for a couple of weeks now. It numbered all-league halfback Frank Gifford among its victims last week, and he promptly ran feverishly for 126 yards Sunday as the Giants whipped the Chicago Cardinals 27-14. That was trouble?

Yesterday the virus clunged Gene Filipinski from among the healthful, and Jim Patton came up with an old-fashioned charley horse. Those two lead the club in punt and kickoff returns. Another regular defensive back, Dick Nolan, is still hospitalized with the flu.

The only defensive backs left unbedded were rookie John (Rebel) Bookman, Ed Hughes, Ed Crawford and Emlen Tunnell.

That means the defensive backfield will be very thin Sunday if the ailing Giants are still on the shelf. It will also mean Tunnell, aided by Bookman, will have to run back most of the Philadelphia kicks. But that's trouble?

Some observers say Emlen has slowed down a step or two after 10 years in the rugged pro loop, but Em isn't one of them. "I feel like I can go on playing for another 10 years," he says. "If not here, then somewhere else. Just as long as I continue playing pro football."

Injury to Bench Montreal's Fabulous Rocket for Month

MONTREAL (P)—It took Maurice Richard to stop Maurice Richard. The fabulous Frenchman, only 500-goal man in National Hockey League history and off to his best start yet in his 16th season, is off the ice, perhaps for a month or more, and out of the running for the scoring title because of a freak, self-inflicted injury.

It's a sad day in Montreal, but they won't be hanging any crepe elsewhere in the NHL.

The 36-year-old Rocket cut the Achilles tendon above his right heel last night as the Montreal Canadiens padded their first place edge with a 4-2 victory at Toronto.

Richard, tied with little brother Henri for the scoring lead with 23 points, swept in for a second period shot, got it away, missed and fell, landing on his skate blade—which sliced into the tendon.

Twenty stitches were needed to close the gash. The foot was to be placed in a cast today.

Out for Month
The Toronto team doctor, estimating Richard would be out a month, at least, said he "received a nasty cut, but was fortunate the tendon wasn't severed."

It looks as though the scoring title isn't meant to be included in Richard's already crowded list of achievements. He twice has missed by just one point, first to Max Bentley of the Chicago Black Hawks in 1946-47, and then to teammate Bernie Geoffrion in 1945-55.

The total points crown and the assists title are the only leads to escape Richard, and assists just aren't his cup of tea.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

A bamboo casting rod takes terrific abuse.

Your favorite fly, plug or spin-stick is flexed hundreds of thousands of times. It withstands the stresses of a struggling fish and the daily knocks of travel. A good rod will hold up to years of work, which is reason enough to spend a bit more when you consider buying a new one.

The principal ingredient in a rod is fine material. It is virtually impossible to process a great volume of mediocre expecting to find a certain percentage of first-class rod sections among the culms.

Inferior material must first be discarded and only first-class material used. Later, after partial fabrication, a percentage of these rod sections will fail to meet the prescribed quality standard and be relegated to the scrap heap. This is true only in the case of the ultra-quality rod made by reputable manufacturers without using inferior parts.

Frauds in Minority
Other manufacturers wishing to meet the volume demand attending a low-priced item are committed to use every inch of cane, good or bad; process by the fastest means possible, thereby holding the most expensive element, cost of labor, to an absolute minimum; and incorporate low-grade, low-cost fittings and accessories in the finishing processes.

Only flaws of a gross nature are considered cause for rejection. Fortunately, these latter establishments are in the minority.

Don't be misled by bargain basement promoters.

Seeking Games
The High Falls Youth Club basketball team is anxious to book home-and-home series with teams in the 13 to 15 age group. Teams interested may call John Visconti at High Falls, 5-1111.

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 13 (P)—Burr Grim, Maryland's famed miler, clipped twelve seconds from the United States Naval Academy cross-country course record today, but a fine team effort enabled the Middle Harriers to post a 20-43 victory over the previously unbeaten Terps.

Adlai's Role May Help to Cut Debate

WASHINGTON (P)—The Eisenhower administration evidently hopes to limit partisan debate on some major foreign issues by bringing Adlai Stevenson into preparation of plans for next month's allied summit conference in Paris.

The Democratic leader has accepted a bid from the Republican administration to come here next Monday and confer with Secretary of State Dulles. The State Department presumably hopes to have tentative proposals for the NATO meeting worked out by that time.

The invitation to Stevenson and his acceptance were the latest moves in a cautious political and policy negotiation designed to revive bipartisanship in foreign affairs in the face of Russia's gains in military power.

How well the effort will succeed in forestalling sharp party controversy when Congress returns in January depends mainly on two critical factors:

1. The extent to which President Eisenhower and Dulles consult with Stevenson in detail and accept his ideas in shaping their program.

2. The degree of support Stevenson can muster among Democratic leaders in Congress for any plans to which he may decide to commit himself.

Results of the Monday meeting—which could also lead to a talk between Stevenson and Eisenhower—may show clearly how much bipartisan cooperation is to be expected.

Rosendale Board Discusses Parking

Complaints of traffic congestion were noted at a recent meeting of the Rosendale village board, which urged Main Street businessmen to advise their patrons on the use of available parking facilities.

It was noted that a municipal parking lot is centrally located, and urged greater use of the facility.

May Adopt Ordinance
The board said that failure to cooperate with the parking problem would result in adoption of a one-way parking ordinance "as suggested by the New York Traffic Commission."

A representative of Mountain Electronics Company said that firm intended to obtain lease on land which will establish a tower for television service. The board reported it would extend the company the same rights as Viking Electronics.

It was noted the fire house plaque will be delivered soon. A date for its dedication was not set.

Aldridge Inspector
The board appointed Arthur Aldridge village plumbing inspector and instructed him to determine from the county health department the rulings and specifications required for the installation of septic tanks in the village.

The board accepted Washington and Central Avenues as village streets.

Shokan
SHOKAN—Floyd Lewis of Beacon was a Shokan caller Sunday. Lewis, who used to stay at the Longyear House occasionally, is a brother of Charles Lewis who was employed on Ashokan Reservoir construction work 45 years ago.

Edward Leyder, formerly of Shokan, is a patient at Benedictine Hospital. The Leyder family resided on the E. Lukacs place before removing to Quarryville many years ago.

Martin Christiansen of Ruby was a recent caller in the village center.

Duane Winnie, Korean War veteran who is employed at the Chevrolet plant in Tarrytown, spent Election Day with relatives here.

Mrs. Walter Cooke, the former Verna Morris, is reportedly a patient at Benedictine Hospital.

Greene County people in town Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hunter and Mrs. Frank Showers of Tannersville. Mrs. Hunter makes ceramics and other collectors items and Mrs. Showers is a retired school teacher of 35 years service.

Stumps of trees and shrubs now show up in the dried-out bottom of Temple's Pond for about half its distance from the Ashokan end.

Saturday evening, Nov. 10, a delegation from the Ponckhockie Congregational Church attended the United Area Bible Class at the Shokan Reformed Church. Included in the group were the Rev. Henry Jansen, pastor and Rhoda Shaw, senior trustee. Everyone is invited to attend the classes each Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Woman Scorned
DAYTON, Ohio (P)—Aaron Jones, 44, of Dayton sadly viewed the remains of his auto and reflected upon the fury of a woman scorned.

Jones told police a young woman became angry at a party he was giving and upon leaving went to work on his car.

Police said she had sprung both doors, tore up the front seat, smashed both headlights, tail lights and back-up lights; snapped the right windshield wiper, broke the horn ring, smashed the electric clock, broke both sun visors, tore off the accelerator and bent the gear shift lever.

Ever add a couple of teaspoons of instant coffee to chocolate pudding when you are preparing the latter from a mix?

Township Groups Meet To Plan Yule Programs

WOODSTOCK — The initial meeting to set up the Woodstock Township Christmas eve program for 1957 was held in the fire hall Friday evening.

It was attended by a large number of people representing most of the churches and organizations of the township.

Leon Carey opened the meeting stating that the traditional Christmas eve program on the village green had progressed in such magnitude and popularity that it can no longer be an event to be supervised by one organization alone. For this reason, he asked for increased participation of all civic, religious and social groups.

Carey also expressed the desire to see new faces on the executive board. Shortly after this suggestion, the unanimous nomination of William West Jr., as chairman for the program took place. West presided over the meeting and divided the working committee into separate groups, some of which included the following chairmen: program, John Pike; fruit and food baskets, the Jaynees; Santa Claus department, Joseph Holdridge Sr.; financing and fund raising, Frank Benson, vice president of the Bank of Orange County; publicity, Kiki Godwin and Ruth Tuck. Ebert Varney was elected as executive secretary.

Carey urged those present to keep in mind that the Christmas program is for all, without any barrier, be it religious or otherwise, for ever-prevailing must be the Christmas tradition of "peace on earth, good will toward men."

This theme was expressed by the representation of many varied groups and organizations such as: The Square Club; The Rotary; the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club; The Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit; the Junior Chamber of Commerce; the Jaynees; the Woodstock Fire Companies; the Little League; the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association; the Town Board; the Woodstock Motor Club; the Riding Club; and the five local churches of different faiths.

Two proposals were adopted and a new idea approved. One of the proposals was to quicken the program for anxious children and because of the seasonal cold. The second was to keep significant the true meaning of Christmas and its religious aspect, and at the same time, develop more interest for the younger set.

The new idea is for the benefit of the children and to give adults the opportunity to enter the Christmas world of the young and to better appreciate the meaning of the Christmas Eve program. Youngsters from the first grade to the sixth are to express in their own words (fifty or less) what Christmas means on the village green means to them.

For four weeks preceding Christmas eve, the best letter for the week will be chosen, published in the papers and heard on the local radio stations. After this, the grand prize winner will be announced Christmas eve and a U.S. savings bond will be given. The contest is open to all children in the township of Woodstock in the above grades, no matter what school they attend. Further details will be announced.

For the home owners, there will still be the usual contest and prizes for the best decorated homes.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Friday, at 8 p. m. in the fire hall. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Square Club to Sponsor Dance for Upper Grades

The regular meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association was held last Thursday evening. It was reported that the Hoe-Down held in October was a financial and social success.

The dance committee, which will be in charge of a dance for the upper grades on Nov. 23, has secured the Woodstock Square Club as sponsor. The membership committee announced that 88 members had paid dues to date.

The budget committee gave the proposed budget for the year based on the funds on hand—

$385.01. A lively discussion arose when it was announced that Francis Hancock was seeking funds to take the eighth grade on a field trip to Albany.

Mrs. Joseph Marr explained that there had once been a square dance group in Woodstock, which not only provided enjoyment for all participating, but also produced some highly proficient exponents. She said that at the present time there is an experienced folk and square dancer in the vicinity who would like to start a dance club here, if there are enough participants.

At no expense to the group he would supply records and instruction. Any couples interested in joining such an activity group, are asked to telephone Mrs. Joseph Marr for further information.

Leon Carey introduced the guest speaker, Harry Rigby, who talked about the kind of community college that might be established in Ulster County. The increased educational facilities would be a great asset to the area and of particular interest to all parents whose children might avail themselves of these courses in the not too distant future.

He said the State University of New York is endeavoring to have each county establish a two year community college to alleviate the pressure of student applications in existing institutions.

These community colleges are directed by a board of trustees, five selected by the County Board of Supervisors and four county residents appointed by the Governor. So long as state standards are maintained, the college may be operated to suit local needs with operating expenses divided among three sources—state, local government, and student tuition, Rigby said.

Two types of certification would be given at the completion of the two year program. The associate in arts would offer credits that are transferable to other colleges, and the associate in science which is granted at the completion of a technical, terminal course.

The local board of supervisors will shortly apply for a charter. They have been assisted in their investigations by a citizens committee of which Rigby is chairman.

The members present voted unanimously to write to Joseph Fitzsimmons, Woodstock town supervisor, stating that the P-TA approved plans to establish such a community college.

At the close of the meeting the hospitality committee served refreshments donated by the mothers of the first grade.

Christ Lutheran Church Announces Activities

"The Call of Christ" is the topic of the sermon which the Rev. G. Oliver Sands plans to preach at the 11 a. m. service, Sunday in Christ Lutheran Church.

This is the next to last Sunday in Trinity. Advent begins the first Sunday in December.

"The Resurrection and Our Faith" is the important lesson topic, taken from I Corinthians 15, which will be the topic for discussion in the Bible classes of the Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.

Present Missionary
Miss Leila Van Deusen, missionary on furlough from India, and sister of the president of the Lutheran conference, the Rev. C. G. Van Deusen of Albany, will be the guest speaker at the special thank-offering meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of Christ Lutheran Church at a service in the church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. Percy Crowell of South Wall Street, Kingston, is president of the local group.

Choir to Sing
The youth choir, with Mrs. John Wolven at the organ, will sing "We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing" at the 11 a. m. service this week. Michael Mayer led the devotions, using "God's Minute Men" as his topic—Bible questions with a patriotic theme. Albert Holumer Jr., served the refreshments assisted by his mother and younger brother. The meeting was held at the parsonage. The next meeting is scheduled for Dec. 2 in the home of Miss Marilyn Wolven.

The Bible Study group met last week in the parsonage. This week they met with Miss Annette Dietz Wednesday night.

Thanksgiving Service

The congregation is invited to the union Thanksgiving service in the Methodist Church Sunday, Nov. 24, at 11 a. m. The Rev. Harvey I. Todd will be the preacher.

ULCW Meeting

Mrs. Frank Benson, who visited her native home in Denmark for over two months last described the Lutheran churches she had visited. These included the church of her family. Many of these were beautiful cathedrals, some damaged during the war.

This was part of the session held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crowell recently. Mrs. Josephine Lasher of Wittenberg led the topic "Christians Live Here" with the hostess and Mrs. Fred Thaisz Sr. of Zena conducting the devotional period.

Mrs. G. Oliver Sands presented the quiz on the current issue of the magazine, "Lutheran Women's Work."

Miss Florence Peper will be hostess to the group at her home December 5.

HST Urges Less Sputnik Worry, Think About CR

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry Truman says the nation should stop worrying about Russia's Sputniks and concentrate on civil rights, including the problem posed by Little Rock.

Truman, speaking last night at a dinner of the Joint Defense Appeal of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith said:

"Don't worry about the Sputniks. We can take care of that situation."

Stress Rights
"Let's make sure we preserve the greatest inspiration we can give the world, the liberties and rights we profess through one of the most wonderful documents in the world—the Constitution of the United States."

He added: "Our attitude on this vital struggle for equal opportunity and human liberty is being watched by the world."

Before the dinner at the Commodore Hotel, Truman told newsmen the Eisenhower administration "inherited a bipartisan foreign policy, and they threw it out the window, and it's a little late now to start one."

Satisfied About Adlai
Asked about the decision by Adlai Stevenson, two-time Democratic presidential candidate, to act as a foreign policy consultant with the administration, Truman said:

"It's a choice a man has to make for himself. I am well satisfied he can make a contribution, and he will."

Asked whether he would accept a similar bid from the administration, replied: "I never answer a hypothetical question."

Roosevelt Seeks Rebirth of GOP In Gotham Town

NEW YORK (AP)—John A. Roosevelt has announced formation of a new political club seeking to build up the Republican Party in New York City.

The move is aimed particularly at the New York County (Manhattan) GOP leadership of Thomas J. Curran, former New York secretary of state.

Roosevelt said yesterday in announcing organization of the new club:

"If there is to be a rebirth and revitalization of the Republican Party in New York City, it can occur only after a change of leadership in New York County."

Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said that during the 17 years that Curran has been chairman of the New York County Republican Committee the party "has gradually deteriorated."

Roosevelt named his club the Metropolitan Political Club.

When you are turning slices of fresh bread into crumbs, you can tear the bread with a fork or cut it fine with a knife.

Study Missile Platforms

PARIS (AP)—NATO's aeronautical research director said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is studying plans to build aerial platforms for the launching of nuclear missiles.

These, Dr. Theodore Von Karman told a news conference, would be in addition to the submarine nuclear platforms whose production U. S. Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) urged yesterday.

Jackson told the newsmen today the United States is going ahead with development of a nuclear-powered intercontinental ballistic missile. He said it would be a one-stage rocket and more efficient than chemically propelled missiles after 2,000 miles.

Modica Is Called

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Don (The Professor) Modica, who witnesses say tutors gangsters' sons in mathematics and the social graces, was called today to testify about New York's garbage disposal racket.

The special Senate committee investigating rackets announced it wants to quiz him about his associations with Albert Anastasia, (Jimmy) Squillante, alleged Mafia the recently slain executioner for mobster, described as Anastasia's Murder Inc., and with Vincent J. Godson.

HEAT YOUR HOUSE WITH THE WINDOWS OPEN

No! And it's mighty hard to keep your house warm when heat is constantly escaping through the walls and roof, too. Walls and ceilings can leak like a sieve — when not insulated.

ROCK WOOL insulation literally puts a blanket around your house and holds the heat in — just as surely as in the sweltering summer days, it holds the heat out.

You'll find that the money you save on fuel alone will soon cover the cost of having ROCK WOOL installed. And you can arrange to pay for this installation in convenient payments, if you wish.
